CITY'S BUDGET ESTIMATES OFFERED

Small Increase Over Total Last Year; Departments Tell Requirements

The proposed general municipal budget for 1925-26, prepared by City Manager V. B. Stone, after requests had been filed with him by heads of various departments, is placed in the hands of the City Council today. It provides for total expenditures for general government of $498,200, an increase of $55,900 over last year. Of the total, $29,782.57 is placed in the unappropriated reserve, with $468,417.43 appropriated to the general municipal expenses.

Revenues will be from two sources, $410,000 from taxation and the remainder from sale of licenses, permits, fines, franchises and interest and penalties on taxes. The estimated total taxes for general government purposes during the present fiscal year will be $365,000.

The proposed budget includes an increase in salary for the city manager of $125 per month, making a total of $625, and for minor increases for some of the other city employes, including $5 monthly raises for several members of the fire department.

While the general government budget shows an increase of only $75 for the city manager, 40 per cent of his salary is paid from public service department funds. Stone last year agreed to forego an increase at that time.

Seek Increases

A park board budget of $50,500 is provided in the recommended budget, an increase of $20,151 over last year. The revenue will

Budget Calls For 12 Cents Tax Increase

An increase in the tax rate for the next fiscal year of approximately 12 cents per $100 valuation will be necessary to meet the proposed 1925-26 municipal budget and bond redemption funds on the basis of a slight increase in the assessed valuation of taxable property in Glendale.

Last year's assessed valuation was $47,091,335, and it is not expected that this year's valuation will be much greater.

The estimated tax levies for various purposes for 1925-26 follow:

General budget, 83 cents; park board, 9 cents; library budget, 7 cents; sewer bond redemption, 18 cents; other bonds, 4 cents; contingent fund on 1915 street improvement bonds, 2 cents; total, $1.23.

Last year's city tax rate was $1.11. The city tax rate is in addition to the county tax levy.

EARLY HISTORY OF GLENDALE REVEALED

Cornerstone Of First Baptist Church Removed, Showing Long Ago Facts

Early days in the history of Glendale were recalled today when the cornerstone of the First Baptist church, laid in 1912, was removed in order to make way for construction of the $150,000 addition to the church.

The stone was removed from its resting place in the southeast corner of the present church building by Rev. E. E. Ford, pastor. Contained within was an oblong tin box, tightly sealed, in which were records of the church, copies of early Glendale newspapers, church literature and a Bible.

A copy of The Glendale News, at that time edited by J. C. Sherer and dated April 11, 1912, was included in the contents of the box. The old paper told of preparations for laying the cornerstone on the following day, April 12, 1912. On the front page of the paper, then published weekly, is an account of the municipal election held Monday, April 8, 1912, when Thomas W. Watson, Alphonse W. Tower and O. A. Lane were successful candidates for City Trustees, and pool halls were banished from the city by a vote of 793 to 333. The total vote cast at the election was 1338. There were four precincts in the city.

History of Church

A short history of the First Baptist church originally the Calvary Baptist church, written by Mrs. M. E. Overton, a charter member of the congregation, tells that the church was founded at a prayer meeting held at the home of S. C. Marchant on the night of July 5, 1904. Eighteen persons attended the meeting. A list of charter members contained on another paper in the cornerstone includes J. M. Banker, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Martin, D. B. Beers, Dolly Beers, C. E. U. S. Ambassador to England Hits Barriers of Prejudice

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service

LONDON, May 28.—Ambassador Houghton, speaking today at a luncheon of the English Speaking Union, abandoned the usual type of "hands across the sea" speeches and expressed a frank opinion concerning Anglo-American relations.

"I fear we may make a mistake if we regard the English-speaking nations as a unity," he said. "We are not a unity. We may be members of the same family, but we are individuals."

"Each will develop along different lines," he continued frankly. "We will regard international affairs from different angles.

"To become better acquainted it is essential to break down the barriers of prejudice and misunderstanding."

Lord Birkenhead, former lord high chancellor, took a gentle rap at prohibition in his address, answering the note against Anglo-American prejudices in the ambassador's speech.

He said he understood there were no Anglo-American differences "except the differences due to the sumptuary laws which the United States has passed."

"These differences cannot become national or international," he added. "We watch with interest your country's experiment without the slightest desire to make the experiment ourselves."

Neville Chamberlain, minister of the public health, expressed the opinion that "whether she likes it or not, America is bound to be more concerned with Europe in the future than she has been in the past."

Couple on Honeymoon Give Paris Tradesmen Big Shock

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service, Copyright, 1925

PARIS, May 28.—David Meriwether Milton and his bride, who was Abbey Rockefeller, are giving Paris a shock—particularly the modistes, the milliners, the waiters, chauffeurs and all others who live on the bounty of tourists.

Paris was greatly excited when it was learned that the daughter of one of the world's richest men was going to spend her honeymoon here. Rich and American at that! What more could be desired—from the standpoint of the aforementioned?

But Paris is disappointed. In the first place, David and Abbey disappeared from sight for a week, staying in a modest apartment of a friend and the hotels and fashionable gathering places saw them not.

Now they have moved into the Hotel Crillon, a fashionable stopping place for American visitors, but their modest manner of living—and spending—continues.

It is the time-honored tradition in the pretentious Paris restaurants that never less than three courses are served, and true gourmets frequently consume six or seven for lunch.

Yet a perturbed Crillon waiter confided today in a stage whisper.

"You see that next table, Monsieur? Those are the millions."

His voice went lower.

"They have ordered but one course. No wine. Not even bottled water. They said ordinary faucet water was good enough."

He shrugged and in a tone of almost anguish, asked the correspondent:

"Do you think, Monsieur, they will continue such?"

QUESTIONS ABOUT BUYING OF HOME

Problems Each Prospective Purchaser Must Face Before Acting

By DONALD R. GELLIN
(Service Manager, Bentley Lumber Company)

How much can one afford to pay for a home? Most people know what they would like in the way of a home, and know that they could make payments at least equal to the rent they are now paying. The real problem lies in getting a satisfactory home, one that will not absorb too much of the family's income.

Before buying, the head of the family may wisely ask: What is the family's annual income, and what will it probably be next year? If business slackens, is he likely to loose his position or have his earnings reduced? Will anyone else in the family be able to earn an income? What does the family now pay for rent each year? How much of the income is being saved? How much could the family afford to pay out each year in paying for a home, and for the expenses that go with it?

Tuesday Club Plans For Future Activity

Plan for activities next year were made yesterday at the meeting of the advisory council, composed of board of directors, curators of departments, and chairmen of committees of Tuesday Afternoon club at the clubhouse. Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, club president, directed the meeting. It was decided that public affairs luncheons would be held once each month next year, on the first Tuesday of each month. Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., introduced Mrs. A. H. Montgomery as club president-elect, and Mrs. Montgomery introduced Mrs. Claude G. Putnam, first vice-president-elect and Mrs. E. S. McKee, second vice-president-elect. Plans were discussed for a money raising event to be held in the fall, details to be in charge of Mrs. E. S. McKee, who is also chairman of ways and means.

The club's annual luncheon will be held June 23 at the clubhouse. Reservations will be open to club members until June 16, after which date they will be open to guests. Mrs. Lowe has been secured as cateress for the club and will serve luncheons for departments and private parties through summer months at a reasonable rate. It is the consensus of opinion that instructors of the various departments would serve again next year.

Moving House No Drawback To Busy Stork

When Dorothy Lorraine Wood grows up, she will have a hard time telling people where she was born, for Dorothy made her appearance on this earth in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gibson, while the Gibson home was on rollers and being moved to a new location. Dorothy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carter Wood of Lankershim. It was after Mrs. Wood arrived at the home of her parents that the Gibsons decided to move their house from 232 Grinnell drive, Burbank, to another location. The stork found the moving house, however.

FRAZIER RADIO BILL ON AIR EACH WEEK

Plan Interesting Program For Tomorrow Night At Warner Station

Radio fans throughout the southland are learning more and more about Glendale by reason of the programs that are broadcast over the various Los Angeles stations, according to A. L. Baird, president of the Frazier Mountain Park & Fisheries Co., Inc., who made the announcement today that beginning tomorrow night his company would, for the next few weeks, broadcast a program each Friday night from Warner Bros.' studio, KFWB.

These programs will be given between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock and local fans are urged to tune in at that time tomorrow night when the first Frazier Mountain Park program will be broadcast.

Ron Wilson's Frazier Mountain Park Syncopaters will open with a few of the newest fox-trots and two-steps, and will be followed by the Park Sisters. Next will be Berma Kloess, Salvine Baiano's Trio and Charles Beauchant.

Open Clubhouse

A big celebration has been planned for Saturday and Sunday at the park. The formal opening of the new community clubhouse, recently completed, will be made and an interesting program of events has been arranged. There will be dancing afternoon and night with the music furnished by a well-known orchestra.

One thousand to fifteen hundred people are expected over the week-end. Many from Taft and Bakersfield will be present. An invitation has been extended to all Glendalians to visit the park this week-end. Ample room for tents and plenty of tables, benches and open air hearths for cooking, have been provided.

Boy Scouts To Hold Inspection Tomorrow

Boy Scouts of Troop 11 will hold their semi-annual parents' night and troop inspection at the Casa Verdugo church on North Central tomorrow night at 7 o'clock. Flower Garden Designed For Shrine Emblem

One of the most unique and attractive flower gardens in Glendale is described as that designed by Max Wenzel at his home, 1216 East Lexington drive. Mr. Wenzel, in view of the fact that the Shriners' convention would be held in Los Angeles in June, decided last winter to plant his garden with emblems of the Shriners. The Shriners' emblem, the crescent, top of sword and star has been worked out in the garden with growing cactus plants by Mr. Wenzel, who stated that this emblem alone covers twenty-five square feet. In front of the Shriners' emblem are the words "Welcome Nobles" also in the growing plants.

The entire flower garden of emblems covers a frontage of eighty-three feet. Mr. Wenzel stated that he also had the emblems of Blue Lodge, F. & A. M., and the chapter, Knights Templar and the thirty-second degree emblem of the Masonic lodge, all in the growing cactus plants.

Bordering the garden are five hundred blooming pansy plants. Mr. Wenzel stated that he had spared no efforts or time in making the display. The dahlias and chrysanthemums are said to be among the finest in Glendale.

Instructions On Proper Use Of Flag Given

Miss Lenora Skelton, patriotic instructor of the Women's Relief Corps of N. P. Banks post, G. A. R., has sent the following information with regard to the flag, to The Glendale Evening News:

"All those who participate in the parade, Saturday, Memorial Day, should have flags flying on automobiles from perpendicular staffs. Flags should not be used on the hood, down the back of the car or over the fenders. Pedestrians on the sidewalk, when large flags pass, should remove hats."

Bridal Window Display Unique And Attractive

One of the cleverest June bridal window displays in Glendale is to be seen at the Glendale News Commercial Printing Co., 139 South Brand boulevard.

Flowing white satin ribbons form a pathway to a tiny altar, where stand a miniature bridal couple, looking most serious as if about to say "I do." Rose colored velvet covers the aisle. A white floral wedding bell is suspended above the couple, while other floral decorations are effectively arranged on either side.

Added features of the display are samples of attractive wedding announcements and invitations.

An interesting feature of the display is that it was planned, made and arranged by Mrs. Mildred Underwood, bookkeeper, as a surprise for D. R. Patterson, C. A. Griffin and Jose Felix, proprietors.

Academy Annual Wins Many Compliments

Daily Greeting to News Readers

WHY DEVELOP—
High priced habits and no high grade earning capacity?
Those appetites today which we must fight tomorrow?
Any more grudges while the world is already overstocked?
A business so far that it begins to run us?
Faults in ourselves that we must correct in our children?
Any special talent as a fault finder?
Animosities when friendliness is so much more profitable?

EFFICIENCY OF CONGRESS

United States Congressmen, like the rest of us, are human and fallible. No session of Congress has been without error or has escaped criticism by the people. We do not hesitate to censure and denounce our lawmakers for the way they conduct themselves in office, and our disapproval is often merited, for each succeeding Congress seems more fatuous than the last. It is right that we should exercise our privilege of free speech when discussing those who represent us and make our laws.

But perhaps there is danger in carrying the matter too far. If a few of our Congressmen, by their conduct or their attitude on national issues, bring reproach upon the lawmaking department of our government, we, the people, should rebuke them as individuals, not forgetting that Congress is one of the three great foundation stones of our government and that part of the responsibility for upholding its honor and dignity rests upon us. The United States Congress is one of our national institutions and excessive criticism and ridicule of Congress as a whole may be dangerous to our national welfare. It is not the institution itself, but a few members of it, that merit reproach.

As a member of Congress for twenty-one years, Nicholas Longworth enjoys the respect of his constituents, of official Washington and of the country at large as few men in public life have ever done. He says that Congress is what you and your neighbors make it, and he is of the conviction that the Congress of the United States averages as high as any legislative body in any nation in the world. "I look forward to the next Congress," says Speaker Longworth, "in confident belief that it will be one of the most efficient legislative bodies in history. The most pressing problem before us is the reduction of taxation and the cost of government by rigid economy. I feel safe in making the promise that this can and will be done by the next Congress."

Another congressman says that without doubt members are really representative citizens of their respective districts and reflect the intelligence of the sections from which they come. In fact, they are almost always a little above the average. "From a hick district we expect a super-hick, and we usually get him," he says.

If we can remember that our Congress represents the average intelligence of our country we may be more chary with our criticisms.

TOO MANY THINGS

An old gentleman whose family is very solicitous for his happiness and comfort, when it was suggested that a radio be installed for him, answered: "No, no, it would be just one more THING. I have too many THINGS to bother about now." Charles Wagner once said: "Joy is not in things. It is in us." And the late Dr. Marden declared that the reason life is such a grind for most of us is because we are trying to find happiness in THINGS—things that money will buy.

An editorial writer says it is to the everlasting glory of Americans that they are dollar-chasers, that money not only makes the mare go. It makes ignorance go—and superstition and dirt, and disease and crime. And he is right to a certain extent. Dire poverty does not make for high social standards, but very often great wealth does not either. This writer claims that wealth brings leisure and the opportunity to invite the soul. When we get money we buy books, we learn table manners and begin to scorn the ignoble. But this is not always true. Very often the acquisition of wealth is the signal for a man to begin to surround himself with THINGS which do not include books, believing that happiness lies in the number and value of his possessions.

If a man wants to feed his soul he doesn't need to be rich, for there is beauty all around us that is ours for the taking, but of course it is difficult to feel soul hunger when the stomach is empty.

BOSTON TO THE FRONT

Southern California cities may well take a lesson from Boston. Much of the earliest history of our country is centered in and around Boston and there is abundant evidence of the old and historic in this interesting city. But Boston is not so conservative as we might have thought. She has combined the antique with the modern in extending hospitality to the world.

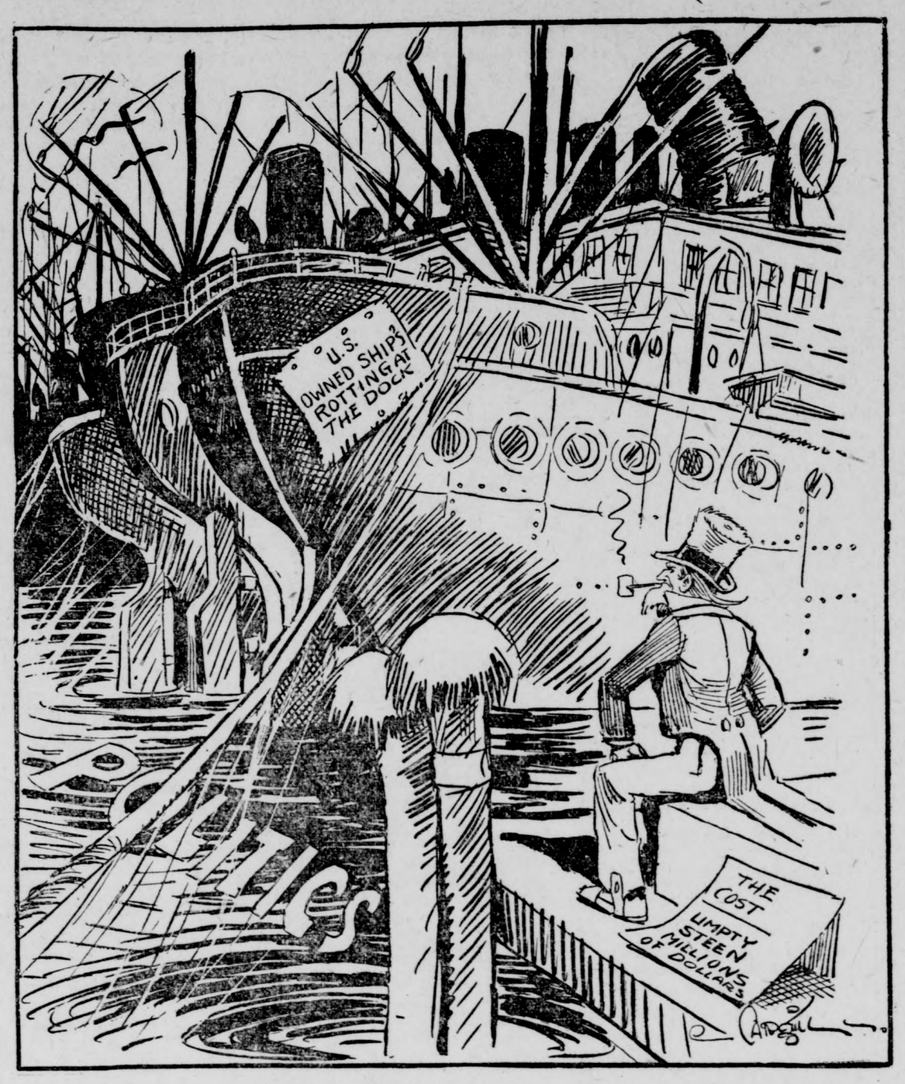
The Boston Chamber of Commerce has 8000 members, and a recently completed home that cost $6,000,000, in the center of the business district. The entire fourteenth floor is devoted to the facilities of a modern club, provided for the stranger, and at his disposal as he steps off the train. Many national industrial associations have their homes in the building. There is a cafeteria in the basement, fifteen private dining-rooms for business conferences and an immense dining-room on the fourteenth floor, with organ, moving picture equipment and public address amplifier system. The aim has been to make the building the natural rendezvous for all New England business men, the clearing-house for New England industry, and a place of entertainment for visitors.

ANCIENT SAYING REVERSED

From time immemorial men have been saying, tritely but truly, "All that I am I owe to my wife," or, occasionally, "to my mother." Men have never hesitated to acknowledge the power behind the throne. They have been proud to admit that it was a woman's faith that implanted ambition in them and spurred them on to do their best.

But Madame Idelle Patterson, famous coloratura soprano, is one of the very few famous women who attributes her success to a husband. This little opera and concert singer, discussing her success with an interviewer, says: "It is all due to my husband." Her friends told her she was wasting time trying to sing, but her husband, who is a music-teacher, had faith in her voice and taught her and encouraged her, and she is proud to admit it, now that she is famous. And so at least one husband of a famous wife gets the credit that is due him.

WE'LL SAY THERE'S A SARGASSO SEA!



Rattling the Pan

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Very often it seems as if a man had no more original ideas and when he talks he is simply rehearsing what he has said before, or he is making an empty sound.

It is like rattling a pan when all the contents have been spent.

The reason why so many people give out and their source of supply ceases, is because they cease to take in.

We must receive as well as give.

The novelist must have material constantly if he is to keep on writing novels.

Many a mother has found her task irksome and tiresome because she is constantly giving out and never taking in. She ought to have some means or recreation or study, or something by which she can lay in the supplies which she is supposed to give out.

Teachers also run dry. They become bores and repeaters of platitudes simply because all their energy is spent upon teaching. They are constantly giving out and never taking in.

The preacher ceases to be a source of inspiration to his congregation when he gets no inspiration himself. He cannot pass on what he has not.

This reasoning applies to us all. Those who are able to help others are the strong, not the weak.

There was a play not long ago that stirred New York, called "The Fool," in which a man quit a good job where he was getting a good salary and went to helping people by giving away overcoats. In this he was supposed to be like Christ. What the play did show, however, was that when his overcoats gave out he would have to beg for overcoats himself. His actions were all right as long as the supply lasted. When his abundance ceased his charity would have to cease and he would have to be a burden to others.

It behooves every human being to remain strong and capable in order that he may be of assistance to others about him. The weak man is of no aid to himself or anybody else.

The Golden Rule which says that we should do to others as we would be done by implies the fact that we insist upon our own rights. Self-sacrifice is based upon self-preservation. If there is no strengthening of one's self by a constant intake there is no help of others by a constant outgo.

Horoscope

Mercury in benefic aspect rules this day, according to astrology. Neptune and Mars are adverse.

Under the planetary rule the press is to have great influence and it is forecast that again the army and navy will be subject to severe criticism.

This sway is most auspicious for editors and publishers. There is to be keen interest in periodicals and books, for the people will incline toward serious study of finance and international relations.

If the stars are read aright women are to lead in an international movement that arouses antagonism and misunderstanding.

This is not a lucky day for starting on long journeys and travel by water may be unpleasant, for storms appear to be indicated.

On the Pacific ocean disasters are to occur within the year, it is forecast.

The moon today enters Leo, an earthly sign ruled by Mercury.

The sway is not a favorable one for persons inclined to diseases of the digestive organs.

There is a good indication for advertising and for personal publicity today, but for trading in all its branches the rule is not promising.

Mental depression and lack of energy may be apparent under this planetary direction and for that reason a positive attitude of mind should be maintained.

It is well to observe the rules of health at this time when the diet should be a matter of earnest consideration.

The aspects are not favorable for domestic harmony and tend toward divorce, which will be shockingly prevalent.

Persons whose birthdate it is probably will have a pleasantly active year that is not eventful.

Children born on this day may have talents that clash, for these subjects of Gemini often have dual gifts as well as dual natures. They should be most wisely and most carefully trained.

Today's Poem

THE SHEPHERD'S TREE

Huge elm, with rifted trunk all notched and scarred,
Like to a warrior's destiny! I love
To stretch me often on thy shadowed sward,
And hear the laugh of summer leaves above;
Or on thy buttressed roots to sit, and lean
In careless attitude, and there reflect
On times, and deeds, and darings that have been—
Old castaways, now swallowed in neglect,
While thou art towering in thy strength of heart,
Stirring the soul to vain imaginings
In which life's sordid being hath no part,
The wind of that eternal ditty sings,
Humming of future things, that burn the mind
To leave some fragment of itself behind.

JURISTS "RUSHED"

With only one case for trial at a London court recently, there were sixteen justices, twenty grand jurymen, thirty-six petty jurors, two barristers, and a dozen policemen and court officials in attendance, and the prisoner got three months for stealing two mugs.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

CLARK KINNAIRD

"Live in the future," cries an Oratorical Gentleman, indicating that we let the past and the present take up too much of our minds.

It is important to preserve a proper proportion between our thought for the present and our thought for the future; but let us always remember Seneca's admonition, and live each day as if it were our whole life—let us make it as agreeable as possible, it is the only time we have.

Many live too much in the past, always pessimistic and regretful. More live too much in the present—frivolous people. Others too much in the future, ever anxious and full of care. It is seldom that a man holds the right balance between the extremes.

Those who strive and hope and live only in the future, always looking ahead and impatiently anticipating what is coming, as something which will make them happy when they get it, are compared by Schopenhauer to those donkeys one seeks in Italy, whose pace may be hurried by fixing a stick on their heads with a wisp of hay on the end of it; this is always just in front of them, and they keep on trying to get it. Such people are in a constant state of illusion as to their whole existence; they go on living ad interim, until at last they die.

Both the past and the future are, on the whole, less important than we are accustomed to think.

Distance, which makes objects look small to the outward eye, makes them look big to the eye of thought, it has been observed.

The present alone is true and actual; and our existence lies in it exclusively.

Then instead of always thinking about our plans and anxiously looking to the future, or of giving ourselves up to regret for the past, we should never forget that the present is the only reality, the only certainty;

That the future almost always turns out contrary to our expectations;

That the past, too, was very different from what we suppose it to have been.

Who's Who

The new United States minister to Uruguay, Ulysses S. Grant-Smith, is enjoying a short vacation at his home in Washington, Pa., before sailing for Montevideo early in June to assume his new duties.

He has been in the United States diplomatic service for twenty-two years, and was until recently minister to Albania, being transferred from that post to South America.

Entering the diplomatic service in 1893, ten years after graduating from Washington and Jefferson college, Grant-Smith has represented the United States in eight different countries, his Uruguayan post to be his ninth. He was first second secretary at the United States legation at Constantinople, Turkey, to which post he was appointed on September 8, 1903. He has since served successively at Santiago, Chili; London, England; Brussels, Belgium; Vienna, Austria; Copenhagen, Denmark; Budapest, Hungary, and Scutari, Albania.

Grant-Smith was counselor to the American embassy at Vienna when the United States severed diplomatic relations with Austria upon entering the World War. During the war he was for a time counselor to the legation at Copenhagen, Denmark, and later charge d'affaires. After the war Grant-Smith was named United States commissioner to Hungary and he negotiated the treaty between Hungary and the United States which provided for resumption of diplomatic relations, this being the last treaty of the war.

Timely Views

Although the United States desires to reduce its army and navy and would welcome complete disarmament, contemplation of such a move unless in accord with other powers would be "folly," United States Senator James E. Watson declared in a recent address. Senator Watson declared that although none of the foreign policies of the United States are of an aggressive nature, some of them require a strong navy for their support. The Monroe doctrine and the "open door" are examples of the latter group, he said.

The use of science and intellect "in devising new engines of destruction and new means and methods of slaughter" were deplored by the senator as "nothing more nor less than a crime against man and God."

"Surely the conscience and conviction of mankind are sufficient to prevent a repetition of the appalling disaster that befell mankind in the world war," he said. "To that end it is to be hoped that the president will insist on another conference to further limit armaments."

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Wisdom Teeth

Mrs. H.—The wisdom teeth usually erupt some time between 18 and 25 years. However, in a few people they may remain within the jawbone and never show. Unless there are symptoms from these hidden teeth there is no occasion to worry about them.

Permanent Waves

Miss E.—It has not been my experience that permanent waving is in any way injurious to the hair. I have had mine done seven or eight times in about as many different cities. Of course, in the hands of an inexperienced operator there might be trouble. (Sorry I can't give you the names of the establishments I patronize. But any reliable firm will have skillful operators.)

The wave is permanent where it is applied, but naturally at the roots where the hair grows the new growth is straight. This makes the waves gradually recede from the head and if you still want wavy hair you must have another wave put in.

"Dear Doctor: I have been dieting by the use of your little book and have reduced from 187 to 164 (in my clothes). You claim my weight should be 148, for I am five feet, seven inches in my stocking feet. (When you state net weight, do you mean stripped?) I am 54 years old. Will you please write me what you think is the best thing for me to do, whether or not to continue to diet until I get down to 148?

I feel pretty well, but find considerable trouble with constipation since I started to reduce. Also, will you please advise me about this plan. My calories run 300 in the morning, 50 at noon and 850 at night. Habits retired. Yours for further reduction, if you think best.—Mr. M."

The rule for finding ideal adult net weight is to allow 110 pounds for five feet in height, in stocking feet; for each inch over, allow five and one-half pounds more. If under five feet, take off five and one-half pounds for each inch under. Net weight means without clothes.

This is simply a guide. You may vary 5 per cent above or below this and still be normal, depending upon the heaviness of the bony framework.

The best things I know for constipation are: The inclusion of a lot of leafy vegetables like lettuce spinach, celery and lots of water; special bending and twisting exercises for the abdomen and brisk walks with long strides. If these do not serve you have to include something like bran or agar in your diet.

A cup of ordinary cereal bran is around 75 to 100 calories, because there is some starch in it, but if you boil the bran three times in plenty of water the starch is cooked out and you need not count it any calories at all. Agar—take it with plenty of water at a regular time (you must determine the amount yourself—two or three tablespoonfuls will do in some cases)—will furnish a good amount of bulk and it is not supposed to have any food value.

Yes, I would get down to normal if I were you. If you don't, you will have to be continuously fighting overweight. If you do get down to normal, there will be a wider range in the eating line, without fear of gaining.

You can have your calories as you find it most convenient and enjoyable. It makes no difference apparently.

SLEEPING POSITION

K.—You can sleep in any position that is most comfortable for you. It is wise to alternate the sides you sleep on.

There is no evidence that sleeping with the head pointed in any particular direction of the compass so that the "earth's currents" flow normally, has anything to do with health.

G.—We have an article on goiter you may have by enclosing a self addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Tomorrow—Answers to Mothers

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e., if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Oval Rug, Pine Tree Pattern—When finished, this rug measures 43 inches in length and 26 inches in width. Materials needed, are: One hank each of Jade, Old-rose and pink, and two hanks of black, also two hanks of white. Use a wooden crochet hook size 13.

Center—Using black rags, Ch. 26, turn, 25 S. C. on Ch., three S. C. in end Ch., 25 S. C. on opposite side of Ch., and three in second end. Continue to work around increasing sufficiently at each end to keep the work flat (that is, about three increases). Work five rounds and at the exact center of starting-end, join the jade rags and work one round. Now count the stitches and indicate with pins the two center stitches at each end, also the two center stitches on each side, and the two stitches at four points half way between ends and sides.

PATTERN—Round One—Join a white strand and at end work * two green, white S. C. to next two pins, and repeat from * all around. Increase as needed at ends in the white spaces between tree trunks (the jade rags, of course, make the tree trunks.) Take care to keep the same number of increases on each side of end motifs so that the rug remains symmetrical.

Round Two—Repeat round one with jade-green S. C. on previous jade-green S. C.

Round Three— Again repeat round one, but work on each tree section one green S. C. over second green S. C. and the second green S. C. over the first white S. C. (this is done to straighten the line of the pine tree's trunk which has a tendency to work off at an angle.)

Tomorrow—Crocheted Rag Rug, Continued.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

D. A. R. Luncheon

Mrs. Jesse Shreve of San Diego, vice-regent of California Daughters of the American Revolution, will be honor guest next Thursday at the annual luncheon of General Richard Gridley chapter, at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. Following the luncheon she will install officers-elect. Mrs. Shreve was guest and installing officer at the annual luncheon last year, and chapter members are very happy over her acceptance of the invitation to this year's affair. Miss Ida D. Myers, who has been such a successful regent this past year, and who has been re-elected, will preside at the luncheon. After the installation of officers there will be a program with vocal selections by Mrs. Lemons, and entertainment by pupils of Pearl Keller.

Miss Myers was hostess at luncheon yesterday at her home, 1203 South Central avenue, to officers and chairmen of the chapter. She was assisted in entertaining by her sister, Miss Harriet Myers. The patriotic colors, red, white and blue, were used in the luncheon appointments. Baskets of red, white and blue flowers formed the centerpieces for the tables. Placecards were attached to small flags on standards. Favor baskets were white, tied with the patriotic colors and contained red, white and blue candies.

After the luncheon time was spent discussing plans for the annual luncheon and for the new year's work. Invited guests were Mesdames C. W. Houston, S. C. Leppleman, Mabel Franklin Ocker, Anne S. Crawford, W. G. Lyman, E. W. W. Hayward, E. M. Kennedy, W. A. Sayler, Helen K. Scripps, J. W. Beard, J. M. Border, T. W. Preston, B. O. Holbrook, T. H. Addison, C. I. Peirce, Miss Hazel White.

Spends Week Here

Lady Margaret Sharp of London, England, will be guest next week at Bel-Air, the foothill home of Mr. and Mrs. Mattison Boyd Jones. Mrs. Jones will compliment her guest and Mrs. Charles H. Toll, who is leaving in June for foreign travel, at a luncheon next Wednesday. Mrs. Jones was among the guests entertained by Lady Sharp at luncheon Tuesday at the Women's Athletic clubhouse, Los Angeles.

Annual Outing

Plans for the annual picnic and final meeting of the year, June 17, in Patterson park, were completed yesterday at the meeting of the Mutual Benefit Reading circle, held in the public library. Mrs. H. V. Henry, chairman, directed the meeting. Reservations for the picnic may be made by calling Mrs. Henry at Glendale 37-W or Mrs. E. W. Cizek, Glendale 2366-M. Lunches will be sold for 40 cents. Each member will be privileged to invite a guest, and the children will be welcome as there will be plenty of room for them to play. Mrs. Mae Rosenberg gave a review of "The Democracy of Bad Manners" by Elizabeth Roberta Cannel. The review proved very interesting and helpful, the article stating that American people were in too much of a hurry most of the time and were always hurrying to get somewhere, regardless of how they really did get there. The subject of teaching children to say "thank you" was also discussed.

Mrs. Henry gave an article "Washed Up and Woman's Duty," in which a short sketch of the life of Charlotte Perkins Gilman was given. The fact was brought out in this article that men looked down on women, who devoted their time solely to domestic life and didn't take time to attend meetings of women, which would tend to broaden their viewpoint on life. The study of the chapter entitled "Domestic Entertainment" in the book "The Home," was completed and study started in the chapter on "The Lady of the House." This chapter of the book has prospects of being very interesting and deals with facts which are practical in every-day life. Members brought their lunches as usual for the noon meal.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

THE FRECKLE SEASON

The freckle season is not yet but will come soon. So, before the sun grows too hot it might be well to consider freckle remedies, and better yet, freckle preventives.

We'll not discuss veils. No healthy girl wants to go veiled in the summer time, there are too many other ways not to freckle. There's cold cream, vanishing or the ordinary sort, which can be used on the skin before going out, wiped off and then covered with powder. The only trouble is that the cream works out unless the complexion is dry. There are large, shady hats; they are better, for they keep the head cool and shadow the face, and the new ones, flower trimmed, are quite charming.

Here are "cures." Try equal parts of peroxide and ammonia, painted on the freckles with a brush, for it is a strong bleach and need not be used all over the skin. If it makes the skin sore, use once a day, and half an hour after using, rub on cold cream.

Try barley water, an old time remedy. Make as the cook books direct for drinking, only much thicker. Add equal parts spirits of wine, or if you cannot get this, witch hazel. Rub it all over the skin, it is a very good bleach.

Or buy one pint of emulsion of almonds and add one drachm of simple tincture of benzoin. Mix slowly and thoroughly, and use this freely all over the face. Or slice cucumbers thin, barely cover with water and simmer. Then press them through a coarse bag to squeeze out the juice. Add a drachm of tincture of benzion to a pint of this, and a few drops of eau de cologne if it seems sticky. Rub this all over the face too. While treating the face with these bleaches, rub the stuff into the hands as well.

Dot—You will have to improve your physical condition besides using local means to clear your skin of blackheads and the other troubles. After the pores of the skin have been overworked because there has been a sluggish condition in the system, it will take a long time for them to contract to their normal size. Always close the pores by an ice rub or with very cold water, after each time you have used either warm water or have massaged with a cream.

A full daily hot bath all over is a great help in such cases as yours, as keeping the pores all over the body cleared and active, will relieve the pores of the complexion of any extra secreting, and gradually there is a general improvement.

Charlotte H.—You can gain the few pounds that you need by drinking a quart of milk every day, one pint of which take hot just before retiring. Olive oil taken in the salad dressing will also be helpful.

Tomorrow—Make your Cold Cream.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

JUDGE'S ORATION STIRS ROTARIANS

F. Collier Of Superior Bench Talks on Memorial Day At Club Luncheon

Judge Frank Collier, judge of the Los Angeles county superior court, spoke before the Glendale Rotary club at their weekly luncheon in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse today on Memorial Day.

Oratorical effect was gained by the speaker in quotations from descriptive poetry and prose bearing on epochal events in American history. He roundly scored the profiteers of the World war and declared that "every mother's son should be forced to bear his share of the burden," in the event of another conflict. The speaker was introduced by Allen R. Eastman, program chairman.

Charles A. Gunn, architect of Shanghai, China, who has been a guest of the Glendale club several weeks told of the Rotarians in his home city. Twelve native Chinese are listed among the members of Shanghai Rotary.

"We should think of China as a nation that needs the friendship of America," the visitor said. "The country is undergoing a great upheaval at the present with which we must be patient."

Announcements Made

Announcements were made that next Thursday's meeting would be for the wives, known as Rotary-Anns. The Oklahoma Shrine chanters will be present. On Tuesday night, June 2, the charter of the Van Nuys' club will be presented at a dinner in the Encino Country club. A large delegation will attend, it was indicated when President Paul Stillman called for volunteers.

Frank L. Fox, president of the Glendale Kiwanis club, was present and extended greetings.

W. E. Hewitt, former Rotarian, spoke on the necessity for voting school bonds. He impressed his hearers with the fact that Glendale is not extravagant in its school expenditure. The facts of the city school system was clearly outlined, backed up by statistics.

Visiting Rotarians included Charles A. Gunn, Shanghai, China; Walter A. Towne, New London, Conn.; Earle Sprague, Fritz Bryan, and Ollie Sellers, Alhambra; Frank Cummins, Burbank; Jim Nickell, Harry E. Leland and F. W. Frisbie, Los Angeles.

'JABOT' VOGUE IS 'WILD' IN FASHION

Designers Have Chased Idea Up, Down and Across Milady's Dress

By AILEEN LAMONT
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, May 28.—A year ago every vaudevillian and radio songstress was singing "what'll I do." Today women and dress designers—who mostly are men—are singing "what can't I do—with a "jabot." They have chased the jabot like a pack of hounds after a fox. They have run it twice around the neck, down the front and up again, have doubled down either side and finally have run the blamed thing into the ground by pursuing it down the back until it has become a bustle.

Nobody as yet has had the courage to sit on the idea, although many are sitting on the jabot. Nevertheless its progress seems due to halt shortly for it cannot get much further, in view of the present scantness of skirts, without a transfer. Perhaps it may become frightened and turn back when it reaches the skirt hem, where it will encounter designs never before seen.

These designs are appliqued on the newest stockings just below the knee and just above the skirt line. The favorite motto now has changed from "hands across the sea" to "legs across the knee." When so crossed, the appliques, consisting of owls, eagles, birds of paradise, and peacocks become visible.

With such stockings are worn pumps of the most delicate pastel shades of doe skin matching the dominant color note, not of the stocking but of the applique, of course, although they call it doe skin, it really is a "kid." The shoes, however, bear a distinct relation to the doe for both are dear.

Many of the movie stars now are buying the second edition of their summer sport clothes, the first edition having been exhausted in Florida, California and the Riviera. Few specify, however, their favorite sport in making their selections. One Hollywood star is reported to have replied when asked if she were buying golf clothes: "Who, me? I should say not. Why should I advertise golf?" Most of their costumes, therefore, will be thoroughly appropriate for the races of the indoor yacht clubs and the early morning workouts of the galloping dominoes.

Among the hats recently chosen by film stars is a small model of broche silk almost covered with odd shaped designs of cut leather in a multitude of colorings. Another is a small toque with a rolled back brim made of velvet and satin ribbon in two shades and trimmed with Assyrian designs cut from silver tissue.

SON TESTIFIES

LOS ANGELES, May 28.—After indicating, in questioning jurors, that the government will attempt to convict Dr. Franklin E. Cornerstone Of Church Reveals City History

lins, Onia Rawlins, Ruby Wallace, G. W. Wallace, A. A. Miller, Mrs. A. A. Miller, M. W. Martin, Homer Margin and Ruby Miller. Only three of these, Mr. Banker and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Martin, are still members of the church.

From the inception of the church in 1904 until the time that the present structure was started in 1912, the congregation grew from the small handful to a membership of 165. Only forty-three of these are now registered on the church books.

From 1912 until the present the church has enjoyed a healthy growth. There are now 825 communicants, and many active societies and organizations. The financial condition of the church is on a sound basis. No debt remains on the church built in 1912. On the new structure now under construction, there remains of the total cost of $150,000, only $70,000 to be paid. Most of this amount is assured on pledges outstanding.

Pastor Six Years

Rev. E. E. Ford, pastor of the church, has been in charge of the congregation for a period of six years. During that time the membership has increased from 225 to 825 now. The gross increase per year has been between 125 and 150 communicants, Rev. Ford estimated. From May 1, 1924 to April 30, 1925, the church year just closed, the largest gain in its history has been recorded. During that period a total of 218 new members were admitted.

The big new addition to the church edifice, made necessary by the continual growth of the parish, will be completed and ready for occupancy some time during December of this year, Rev. Ford said. Dedicatory services will be held prior to Christmas, according to present plans. Comparing the financial activities of the church in 1912 when the present building was built, to that of the current year, Rev. Ford pointed out that the total expenditures for missionary work and maintenance of the congregation in 1912 amounted to $1,756. For 1924-25 the budget covering these same items amounted to $15,000. More than $200,000 has been raised and expended by the Baptist congregation in Glendale during the last two years, Rev. Ford declared.

Early Church Officials

In a directory of parish activities for 1912, which was found among the contents of the cornerstone, the following church officers were named:

Annexation Issue Is Raised By City Plans

Hostilities were declared today by the city of Tujunga because of alleged efforts on the part of Glendale to annex territory that Tujunga believes should belong to that newly incorporated municipality.

Petition was recently filed by voters and property owners of Verdugo Hills, a tract of more than twelve square miles lying northwest of Glendale, asking the City Council to call an election for the purpose of voting on annexation to Glendale. The petition was approved by the council, after a telephone message had been received from the city clerk of Tujunga declaring that the Board of Trustees of that city believed too much territory was involved in the annexation project.

Today the council received a letter from the city clerk of Tujunga, stating the petitions are now being circulated in a tract of about 100 acres included in the property in the annexation proceedings for joining of that territory to the city of Tujunga. The Hillhaven tract, it is said, lying next to the Tujunga boundaries, is included.

A negative vote on annexation to Glendale, however, is now necessary to stop the proceedings, or to separate the Hillhaven tract from the territory it is desired to annex to this city, it is said.

Through error of a train dispatcher, a Southern Railway train to London recently took nearly 400 passengers sixty-five miles in a circular trip out of the way instead of the usual fifteen miles to the city.

STAGE AND SCREEN

VIEWS AND PREVIEWS—NEWS NOTES FROM STUDIOS
Compiled By Members of The Glendale Evening News Staff

HISTORIC OXFORD BUILT AT STUDIO

Realistic Scenes Obtained For "Charleys's Aunt" Now At Glendale

The filming of the big feature farce, "Charley's Aunt," with Syd Chaplin, the special attraction that will be seen for the last times tonight at the Glendale theatre, was done on one big stage at the Christie studio in Hollywood.

The stage took on a decided English atmosphere when the quadrangles, gardens and chapels of Oxford university were built. Huge gray ivy-colored walls, spaced by arches and windows, loomed on all four sides.

The occasion for the transformation is the duplication of one of the colleges at Oxford, where the scenes of "Charley's Aunt" are laid. When Al Christie visited the real Oxford early last summer he took dozens of graflex photographs from every conceivable angle and from these photos the sets were built, perfect in every detail.

On account of the unusual amount of electric equipment necessary to light up the big sets an elevator was installed and a regular stage "kitchen" constructed on the upper level for storage and handling of lights. The interior sets showing the college boys' rooms were built immediately next to the gardens and the exterior walls of the classic old buildings were removable so that long shots could be made from almost any angle desired.

Thus the picture, made almost without any exteriors, attained an effect of realism that could be achieved in no other way.

In support of Syd Chaplin in the title role of this screamingly funny farce are seen James E. Page, Ethel Shannon, Lucien Littlefield, Eulalie Jensen, James Harrison, David James, Priscilla Bonner and lovely Mary Akin.

'GOLDEN BED' NOW SEEN AT GATEWAY

DeMille's Latest Production With Lillian Rich Is Featured Picture

"The Golden Bed," directed by Cecil B. De Mille, the man who made "The Ten Commandments," opens a three days' run at the Gateway theatre today, tomorrow and Saturday.

The picture is an adaptation by Jeanie Macpherson, based on the novel by Wallace Irwin. A beautiful girl is the owner of the golden bed—a legacy from her mother. She is selfish and cruel, with a loveliness that works like a spell on men. To her the bed represents ease and power.

She marries a Spanish nobleman, but loses him in Europe. She has a sister who is her exact opposite in character and there is a poor boy whom she used to scorn who has now become a man of money and power. The young fellow marries her. The rest of the story is the shattering of his dream.

All-Star Cast

Lillian Rich plays the leading feminine role. Vera Reynolds, Rod La Rocque, Warner Baxter, Theodore Kosloff, Julia Faye, Robert Edeson, Robert Cain, Henry Walthall and Charles Clary are in the cast.

Mother Love

NORMA TALMADGE and WALLACE MacDONALD in 'The Lady,' at the Cosmo theatre.

Frank Borzage's genius at handling the mother theme in motion pictures is proverbial. In "The Lady," which Norma opened at the Cosmo theatre last night, the "Borzage touch" is evident. The mother theme is strongly to the fore in "The Lady" and Norma has an opportunity to display an exceptionally wide range of characterization.

"The Lady" is a First National attraction produced by Joseph M. Schenck. It was directed by Borzage from Frances Marion's adaptation of the stage play of the same title.

LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, May 28.—An O. E. S. club was organized in the valley Monday night when members met in the clubrooms at Highway Highlands for an informal gathering. Mrs. Mary B. Darrow was unanimously elected chairman of the club, Mrs. F. Boergandine, secretary and treasurer and Mrs. R. Q. MacDonald, accompanist. The chair appointed Mrs. A. E. Hopkins chairman of the ways and means committee to be assisted by Mrs. Paul Rodet, Mrs. F. Silvers, E. Jones and R. Q. MacDonald.

Mrs. R. Q. MacDonald and Mr. Silvers will work choosing a name for the club. The ways and means committee will entertain all Masons of the Valley and their wives at a card party at the next meeting to be held Monday, June 8. Mr. Silvers will furnish the first prize for men, Mr. Hopkins first prize for women and R. Q. MacDonald will come forward with a fitting consolation prize as his donation.

Present at the meeting were: Mr. and Mrs. R. Q. MacDonald, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. G. Zautner, Mr. and Mrs. Frasher, Mr. and Mrs. Silvers, Mrs. Patch, Mrs. Luke, Mr. Jones, Mrs. Rodet, Mrs. Bergendine and Mary B. Darrow.

Friends of Miss Margaret Hanber regret to learn that she is confined to her home with an attack of influenza.

Lovers of the allied arts were rewarded Tuesday night when they met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Turck for an informal meeting to form an art club. Mrs. Turck was appointed temporary president. The club will be known as the Allied Arts club with the furthering of study and advancing the cultural side of life, in general, as its aim.

With the unanimous consent of all present Mrs. Turck was elected president, Miss Margaret Hauber, first vice-president; Mrs. William Reed, second vice-president and George Whales Farrand, secretary and treasurer. By-laws will be drafted and presented at the next meeting for acceptance. For those not inclined to be active members, provision has been made for an associate membership.

At the conclusion of the short business session Mrs. Turck turned the meeting over to Mr. Farrand, who, in the absence of Miss Hauber presented Mrs. Gemma Carufel of Tujunga, who made a nice impression. Her diction was perfect and her voice of the clear, bell-like quality.

Her first group of songs was the "Old-Fashioned Town," by Squires and "At Parting," by James Rogers; her second "The Lilting Bird on the Wing" and "Bowl of Roses."

Mrs. Carufel was ably accompanied by the gifted Glendalian, Margaret Mottern. Miss Dakota Mizner lately returned from New York and now studying under Olga Steeb, was a musical "find," handling Chopin in his various moods and phases cleverly. Miss Mizner played the "Shadow Dance" and "Polinaise," by MacDowell, as her second group.

Though well known for her cleverness as presiding officer of the La Crescenta Women's club activities, few of her friends knew of her musical ability. It is doubtful if any program in the valley will now be complete without a piano solo by her after her performance of Tuesday night, when "The Strangest Story Ever Told" was her selection, followed by "Yankee Doodle." Mrs. Turck also added to the fun of the evening with several clever dialect stories.

By request Miss Mottern gave the new words to the old music of "Danny Boy" in the song "Would God I Were a Tender Apple Blossom." It is understood that Miss Mottern will become an active member of the new club.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the Turck home June 9. These meetings are open to all interested in the arts. Present last evening were: Mrs. G. Kantell and Mrs. Emily Scoles of Flintridge; Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Carufel of Tujunga; Miss Dakota Mizner of Pasadena, Mrs. and Miss Mottern of Glendale; Mr. and Mrs. Weaver of Montrose, Fred Kimball, George Farrand, Mr. and Mrs. William Reed, J. Hauber, Mary B. Darrow and the hosts Mr. and Mrs. Charles Turck, of La Crescenta.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

If two Californians were searching for a certain point in the northern part of the state, the newspapers would pay little attention to their inane quest for nothing at all. But when Amundsen and Ellsworth flew away from Spitzbergen to locate the north pole by airplane the world immediately gets excited and a goodly share of the news columns are devoted to this exploit.

One does not wish to detract from the intrepidity of explorers, yet there is the question of value in their act because the north pole already has been discovered. And that's that.

What the world would like to discover, and particularly America, is a temperance drink which will enable those tired and weary and worried to forget their troubles without the after-effect of alcoholic stimulant, or the craving created by dope.

Should such be discovered, however, it is probable it would be banned for bringing heaven too near earth. It has been well said that California is such a close approach to mortal's conception of heaven that it has drawn the wrath of less favored climes.

Editors, authors and others, who write for a living, die and leave estates from nothing up to $50,000 as a rule. They average around $10,000, likely. Junk dealers die and leave estates from $100,000 to $1,000,000.

Incidentally, there are three printers employed to every reporter on the payrolls of newspapers, yet high schools and colleges are turning out a grist of budding young journalists this graduating season and nary a printer.

The facts speak for themselves. Anyone is qualified to be a junk man. The nit-wits become printers' devils in the small towns. But the most foolish of all are those who take courses in journalism in our schools and expect to earn their living, and even of amassing a fortune by writing. It can't be done.

Santa Barbara hotel men and merchants were grumbling last fall. Their business wasn't what they thought it should be. Visit the Mission City today and you will find it a most prosperous community.

Millionaires in Santa Barbara with its fine hotels and Montecito colony are about as common as movie stars in Hollywood. And they are about as temperamental, the writer is told.

The Maharajah of Jaipur was so interested in the recent British airplane flight to India that he has given a donation to the Royal Aero club of London for its racing fund.

RUBBER TRADE FACES BIG PROBLEM

U. S. Manufacturers Urge Restriction On Straits Export Be Removed

This is the second of a series of dispatches outlining authoritatively world conditions which affect price and supply of one of the great basic commodities and which have a bearing to some extent on nearly all industries and individuals in this country.

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News. Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, May 26.—American and British tire manufacturers, ordinarily bitter trade rivals, have joined hands temporarily. Both are demanding that the restrictions exercised by Great Britain on the export of crude rubber from the Straits settlements be abolished.

Some American consumers have been clamoring for American government departments to make representations on this subject to the British foreign office. The English manufacturers now are demanding similar action by their own colonial office. Relief from either source is not expected by those in closest touch with the industry.

The price of rubber is up and stocks of crude are low. Cables today from one of the best informed American dealers, now in London, indicate that the question undoubtedly will be taken up in the House of Commons. They also indicate that a 10 per cent increase in the amount of rubber permitted to be shipped from Singapore may be immediately instead of waiting for the expiration of the next quarterly period, when normally it would become effective under the Stevenson plan. But the authority quoted regards the total removal of restrictions as entirely unlikely.

Rubber Shortage

This dealer states that there exists in England a tremendous short interest in rubber. Shorts are unable to cover except at high prices in view of the short stocks available. English tire makers already have raised their prices, 10 to 15 per cent. Automobile makers there assert that present prices eventually will add "several pounds" to the final cost of every motor car. British dealers say in conclusion that the Stevenson plan has not been effective since it has not prevented violent price fluctuations.

Producers take a widely different view. They say that the plan has done exactly what it was designed to do, that is, restricted production to a point where products could be sold at a profit. They attribute the situation to the fact that manufacturers did not contract in advance for their re-

STATE BEAUTY DESCRIBED BY POET

Magic Line Of Keats Telling Of 'Magic Casements' Is Apropos, Club Says

About a hundred years ago in England a young poet stood on the ramparts of Carisbrooke castle and looked out on the foaming surf that raced in roaring protest against the rocky bulwark of the cliffs below. While he gazed through the windows of this age-old building, there came to him the inspiration for a single line of verse which has been declared by Rudyard Kipling to be the very "attar" of poetry. This particular line includes the happy pharse "magic casements." The poem was "The Ode to the Nightingale" and the poet was John Keats. There is no phrase in the whole body of poetry that conveys the idea of the remarkable attractions of California better than "magic casements," according to a writer in the National Automobile club weekly.

California, in the era of discovery, was a fabled land of Griffins and pygmies, a land of Indian legend, golden in color and yielding from her vast stores treasures or immeasurable quantity. Even the prosaic Francis Fletcher, chaplain of the fleet of Sir Francis Drake, waxes romantic when he describes the chalk-cliffed bay under the lee of Point Reyes, where the captain-general of freebooters, Sir Francis Drake, anchored on that pleasant spring day in 1579.

Strange Coincidence

It is a remarkable coincidence that the romance of the Elizabethan period has been translated to the modern romantic movement in English literature. One of the greatest forces in the development of the modern romantic movement was the publication in 1798 of the lyrical ballads containing the "Ancient Mariner" of Coleridge and one of the chief incidents in this famous poem as well as the gloss that appears as a running commentary along the margin, was inspired by the poet's perusal of the account of the voyage of Shelvocke along the coast of California many years before.

Romance clings to California from the days of discovery. It lives in the legendary literature that hangs about the Indian haunts from Shasta to San Diego. It lives in the colorful period of the Spanish dons in the "Rodeo," in the "Tarantella," "The Fandango," "The Fiesta" and all the pomp and pageantry of an era when life was replete with pulsing emotions, when a livelihood was easy to procure and when man's chief end was to enjoy the blessings which nature had bestowed.

American Era

The next period of California history is the American era and the Argonauts of the fifties, the

TRAFFIC LAWS BENEFIT TO HUMANITY

Uniformity of Such Measures Is Urged By National Automobile Club

Uniformity in local traffic regulation is an essential of safety, according to the safety first bureau of the National Automobile club. On account of the great tourist travel which enters the confines of California during the summer season, an increase in the hazard of accident naturally results from the ignorance of local traffic regulations on the part of the visitor.

California has gone a long way toward developing a uniform method of handling traffic on the highway. Speed regulation is now determined by state statute and a great many of the important rules for the operation of a motor vehicle in conformity with the safety of the general public have been put into effect.

Los Angeles and San Francisco, however, have yet to get together on ways and means of handling traffic in congested areas. Unquestionably the problems in the two cities in question differ to a great extent but, in the main, the handling of traffic could be conducted under much the same plan in both municipalities.

Full Stop Law

One regulation in Los Angeles that has worked out to excellent advantage is the requirement that all motor vehicles must come to a full stop behind a standing street car while passengers are alighting. In the bay district, however, a motorist is allowed to pass a standing street car provided he keeps a certain distance away.

Visitors to Los Angeles find a strenuous "jay-walking" ordinance in full effect, an ordinance that has been tried thoroughly and found very satisfactory. It is only a question of time when foot traffic in San Francisco and Oakland will be regulated by just such a type of ordinance.

The best move toward safety that could be made in the field of city traffic regulation would be to hold a coast-wide conference of traffic chiefs and organizations interested in safety movements to draw up a uniform method of handling traffic which would be applicable to all the towns and congested areas concerned.

Motorists Warned to Watch School Routes

Motorists of Los Angeles county are urged by the National Automobile club to use greater precaution in crossing street intersections, passing schools and to avoid cutting corners, passing between cars and taking rights-of-way as law violators found guilty of these offenses are being given heavy fines, ranging from $50 to $100 and jail sentences ranging from five to ten days.

In many instances men having families have found difficulty in paying their fines and have been allowed a brief period in which to raise the money. It is the duty of every motorist to join in a concerted effort to lessen the number of the most dangerous traffic violations.

More automobile camps are available to the tourist in Southern California than in any other section of the nation, according to the tuoring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

MOTOR BUSSES

There are 60,000 busses, double the number of two or three years ago, now in operation in the United States, according to figures received by the Automobile Club of Southern California.

FIRE BURDEN RESTS WITH MOTORIST

National Auto Club Warns Prevention Is Up To Individual Driver

The burden of fire prevention in the forest reserves of California rests with the individual motorist. California motor car owners who answer the call of the open road this year are urged by the touring bureau of the National Automobile club to observe the rules and regulations of the United States Forest Service, not only in the letter but in the spirit. The forest areas of California belong to the motoring public.

The motor car has furnished a means of transportation so that the dweller in the more congested sections may, on week-end excursions or during the vacation periods, enjoy the contact with nature mid delightful surroundings. There is, therefore, placed on the shoulders of the individual motorist a responsibility not only to observe the utmost care to avoid the fire menace in the forests but to assist the Forest Service in preventing the spread of fires in every way possible.

Tourists Lure

One of the great tourist lures of California is to be found in her great forest area that invites the motor camper and the nature lover to "commune with nature" and with "nature's moods." Thousands of acres of delightful camping grounds are burned over every year on account of the carelessness of some individual who did not see that his campfire was properly extinguished or who heedlessly tossed a burning cigarette stub or a flaming match into the dry shrubbery along the highway.

Just as the accident rate from automobile hazards will be reduced when the individual motorist realizes his responsibility, so will the tremendous loss from forest fires be held to a minimum when the man who answers the call of the out-of-doors shall delegate himself as a protector of the forests, not only in his own interest but in the interests of those who may come after him.

DETOUR MADE FIT

Due to construction work on the highway a detour is encountered between Buhach and the Merced river, according to the touring bureau of the National Automobile club. This detour, however, is in good condition.

BRIDGE PROGRESSING

Excellent progress is being made on the new bridge which is being constructed at the Merced-Madera county line, according to the touring bureau of the National Automobile club.

AUTO CLASSIC SPEEDSTERS BRUSH UP

World's Fastest Drivers Set For Indianapolis Feature Over 500 Miles

For International News Service

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 28.—The stage was set today for the world's premier speed event of the year.

Saturday, at the famous Motor Speedway here, a score or more of universally renowned daredevils will court death in a 500-mile auto race for fame and fortune.

Already Indianapolis has been invaded by thousands of speed fans hungering for the roar of powerful motors and for the smell of castor-fumed pits, and each incoming train throughout the day deposited its quota of speedway addicts.

Saturday's race has attracted more interest than any in previous years because of the new front-wheel drive machine, conceived and perfected by Harry Miller, from which much is expected.

Front Wheel Drive

Bennie Hill, diminutive and iron-nerved, will pilot the Miller Special front-wheel drive, which is built along low lines and resembles a projectile in shape. The car is unpainted, being finished in sand-blown fashion, with the chassis, rdiator and all parts seen by the eye in nickel and copper.

Miller remains secretive over the possibilities of his latest creation in speed circles, but his friends say he has high hopes of annexing the big race.

More than ordinary interest was manifested today in the racy-looking Fiat that will be driven by Pietro Bordino, famous Italian speed merchant.

Fiat Shows Speed

It looks every inch a racing car. Equipped with a new, one-seater body that narrows the car down in appearance very similar in general lines to American racing models, the Fiat, according to speedway observers, is capable of annihiliating space at a dizzy rate; and, with Bordino, a reckless, take-a-chance driver, at the helm, more than one thrill seems to be in store for the huge crowd Saturday.

The Junior Eight, built unusually close to the ground, also is coming in for much speculation. It was entered by the Locomobile Company, behind which is the genius of W. C. Durant, father of Cliff Durant, millionaire race driver.

Cooper Picks Car

Earl Cooper, winner of the race recently held at Charlotte, is forsaking the car he drove to victory in that 250-mile event to pilot the Junior Eight.

Cooper was receiving belated congratulations today from scores of friends just arrived in Indianapolis over his Charlotte victory. "I only hope I can do as well here," he smiled.

The Junior Eight has never been driven, and speedway followers are shaking their heads wisely in view of Cooper's decision to desert his old reliable machine to drive the Locomobile entry. Cooper's racer, which has earned him much fame, will be in the big event, however, with Ralph Hepburn, young motorcycle racer, considered a clever and hard driver, at the wheel. Should the Junior Eight fail him, Copper undoubtedly will take the helm of his own car.

$120,000 In Prizes

A total of $120,000 in cash prizes will be handed out to the performers in the big race—$100,000 to the winner and $20,000 in lap prizes. The winner of each lap will earn $100—there are 200 laps to be covered in the 500-mile event over the two-and-a-half mile track. An expert mathematician figured out today that if one of the drivers gets off in front and can manage to stay there for the entire 200 laps he'll carry off the whole $120,000.

Tommy Milton, hero of many a big race, the only man who has won a 500-mile international event twice, and the only man who has thundered over surfaces at the astounding speed of 156.04 miles an hour, thinks the lap prizes will have considerable bearing on the contest tomorrow.

"This year the cars entered in the race are faster than ever before," he said. "And the lap-prize fund is going to divide the competitors into two divisions—the 'beat it' boys—who believe that all existing records will be shattered here and who will go out at the start to get as much lap prize money as possible, with the hope that their mounts will stand the gaff and permit them to go on through to victory at an unheard-of average—and the 'conservatives,' who will hold back, believing that the drivers who go out to force the race will be unable to finish."

CALIFORNIA CARS

Southern California outranks all countries outside of the United States in the number of automobiles, except Great Britain, according to the license department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Speed Demon Tells One on Colored Boys

INDIANAPOLIS, May 28.—While realizing they will take their lives in their hands Saturday in the 500-mile auto race, the drivers outwardly were calm and even jocular today. Harry Hartz, who seems to have a penchant for finishing second in automobile speed events, told one today that kept his brother pilots in rare humor.

"Two colored boys were working around the room where Pete DePaolo's Dusenberg was quartered at Charlotte," Hartz said.

"'She sho' am a fas' baby, dat waggin,' one of the colored boys said.

"'Sho is,' the other answered. 'I hear 'em say dat ole bus kin do a hunnert 'n fifty miles a houah.'

"'Whooie,' gasped his companion, 'dat's more'n a mile every second. She mus' have five or six gears foah dat speed.'

"'Five or six nuthin.' Dat waggin got only two speeds—low and gone.'"

AUTO THIEVES COMMONEST OF CROOKS

So Says National Club In Warning To Public To Take Precautions

The theft of automobiles is the commonest crime in the police records today, according to the theft bureau of the National Automobile club.

The theft bureau is interested not only in the apprehension of motor car thieves, in the breaking up of so-called gangs and in the location of stolen cars but also in educative measures calculated to reduce the hazard of theft and in co-operation with the general public to prevent the theft of motor cars.

Many thefts are committed by so-called "joy riders" who drive the car about for a few hours and then desert it. Still other cars are stolen by "accessory thieves" who take the car to some out-of-the way place and remove the spotlights, tires and other paraphernalia for purposes of resale. Still another type of motor car thief is termed by Under Sheriff Biscailuz of Los Angeles, as the "auto buzzard" who sweops down upon a car that has stalled be-

ROADS UPKEEP USES TAX ON CARS

Every Penny Now Collected Is Needed, Auto Club Report Claims

Constantly increasing demands for highway maintenance indicate that the state of California will need every penny that is collected from the motor vehicle tax to meet the enlarging needs. Announcement is just made by the state highway commission that fifteen major reconstruction improvements on Southern California roads have been mapped out for immediate work. Approximately $1,700,000 will be required of the gasoline tax return for these projects, and it is estimated that the thirteen southern counties will receive $2,500,000 during the year from this tax, and the northern counties approximately $2,250,000.

Each year brings greater demands for reconstruction, widening and maintenance. Beginning in 1912, the state to date has built 2451 miles of paved roads. Of these 622 miles have been rebuilt, and the demand for reconstruction work is growing constantly as nearly all of the early roads were constructed only fifteen feet in width, which is inadequate to accommodate present-day traffic, and these must be widened.

Continual Needs

Some of this pavement constantly is reaching its limit of life and must be reconstructed. New county roads are continually being built, which add to the cost of maintenance, so that, with the best management and economical handling, it appears obvious that the demands on the motor vehicle tax will become greater and greater.

The total taxes estimated for road work in 1925 are $21,106,000. Of this the state's share will be $10,553,000, and of this amount the state has to date appropriated for reconstruction $4,750,000 leaving $5,750,000 for general maintenance and minor betterments.

Announcement that fifteen major reconstruction improvements are provided for in Southern California is being received with great acclaim by motorists and proponents of good roads.

Excessive Burden

It is generally accepted by motorists that this work is needed and that the motor vehicle and gasoline taxes provide an equitable and fair method of financing this class of work. The majority of them, however, have expressed themselves as opposed to using this tax money for build-

Yearly Auto Traffic Into Canada Heavy

Seven hundred and twenty-seven thousand motorists crossed the Canadian line from Blaine, Washington, last year, according to a traffic check received from the government authorities by the touring bureau of the National Automobile club.

Whether it was the scenic attraction of the Canadian Rockies or parties in quest of a region where the authority of the Volstead Act does not extend, motor excursions across the border were exceedingly popular during the last twelvemonth.

Six thousand cars bearing California licenses crossed into Canada at the rate of sixteen cars a day throughout the year. Thirty thousand came from the state of Washington and Oregon contributed a quota of twenty-five hundred.

BREAKS ELIMINATED

The water breaks in the road between Clear Lake and Bartlett Springs are being removed and this road will be in good condition for summer travel, according to the touring bureau of the National Automobile club. Considerable work has also been done on the road between Bartlett Springs and Venado. From Venado to Williams is an excellent gravel highway.

ROAD IN SHAPE

The road from Healdsburg to Stewarts Point via Skaggs Springs is in good condition having recently been scraped, according to the touring bureau of the National Automobile club. This is a popular road for anglers.

Detour Reported Over 'Dogwood Road' Trail

Reconstruction work is now in progress on the El Centro-Brawley highway necessitating temporary closing of that road and the use of a detour two miles to the east over the route known as the "dogwood road," according to recent reports received from the touring department of the National Automobile club. The road under repair is being graded and when finished will be topped with six inches of gravel. It is estimated that this work will be in progress for at least two months and the detour necessitated by the road work is a very poor one.

TORQUE MYSTERY IN CAR CLEARED

Paige-Detroit House Organ Defines Its Result Of Explosive Power

"Torque" in an automobile seems to be such a mystery to many owners that G. Clark Mather, chief engineer of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Co., recently explained it in the Paige-Jewett house organ, says D. R. Tompkins of the D. R. Tompkins Co., 219 West Colorado street, local distributors.

"Torque in an automobile motor is the result of the explosive power of the contents of a cylinder full of gasoline vapor being applied through the medium of a piston and connecting rod to turn the crankshaft," according to Mather's explanation.

"For example, let us say that the gasoline vapor in one cylinder of an automobile motor is exploded. The piston that slides up and down in that cylinder imparts, through its connecting rod a thrust to the crankshaft. This thrust is converted to rotary motion by means of the crankshaft and when expressed in pounds in a given radius, is termed torque and is given in inch pounds or foot pounds torque."

PACKARD HITTING FOR SALES MARK

Local Handler Of Popular Car Has Message For Calamity Howlers

Here is a shock for the calamity howlers who claim that business is going to the dogs. The sales of Packard automobiles is hitting a pace that is destined to set up a new sales mark for this popular car, according to William H. Daniel of Dixie Motor Co., 1129-31 South Brand boulevard.

Packard has for a long time taken its place among the leaders of the automotive industry. Features of the Packard have become recognized as representing greater automobile value and sales have gone hand in hand with the Packard standard of value.

Despite the national slowing up of business in order to get a normal basis the Packard has experienced a wonderful year, according to Daniel, and at this time Packard sales in the Glendale territory are brisker than they have been in any other month for the past year.

Rubber Manufacturers Facing Real Problem

quirements when prices were low.

They deny that the cost of rubber can make a difference of $10 or more in the cost of automobiles, since each tire contains but little more than three pounds of crude.

Plans to Increase

The plantations in the Straits settlements are prepared to increase production as fast as permitted. Thousands of trees which require seven years to come into bearing are ready to be tapped but the planters are not anxious to tap them so fast as to flood the market and break the price, which they say might occur if restrictions were removed.

America really makes the rubber market since the larger part of the output is consumed here. Automobile production is still on the increase. Those in favor of restrictions of production say the real trouble with some American manufacturers who oppose the plan is that they made contracts to supply certain automobile factories with tires for original equipment over a period of years at prices based on low crude rubber. At present therefore, they can not pass on increased cost to their customers.

Dutch East Indies

It was thought for a time that the Dutch East Indies growers could be counted on to supply sufficient crude to keep the price down as they refused to join in the restriction plan. It develops, however, that English interests, which had faith in the program, contracted for the entire output of some of the largest Dutch plantations for some years to come at prices well above the world level then, but which are well beneath it now. The Dutch growers are making a moderate profit but not benefitting to the full and their output really is in English hands.

In view of the debts owed by Great Britain to the United States and the determined effort on the part of the empire to make the most of every trade advantage to pay them, American dealers do not anticipate that the colonial office will take active measures to change the restrictions basically.

There is a considerable amount of Chinese-owned rubber in the Straits settlements and permission has been given to the owners to buy export permits from planters who for any reason are not shipping against their permits this quarter. This, however, does not increase the total which may be exported under the Straits law.

RAIN SETTLES DUST

Dunsmuir reports that recent rains in that vicinity have settled the dust and motoring is now ideal according to the touring bureau of the National Automobile club. Dunsmuir to Klamath Falls via Bray is open and in good condition.

WARM DAYS BRING VACATIONISTS OUT

Old Camping Bug Routed By Ideal Weather Western Auto Supply Says

The warm days of the past few weeks have routed out the old camping bug from his winter quarters and he is again at large in search of new victims. Favorable weather conditions have called him from his winter nap earlier than usual this year, and, being so disturbed, he is in an extremely ugly mood.

The weather must be just right before this insect begins his yearly innoculations. Take a day of late spring with a crisp morning mixed with a lazy summer afternoon and the bug is on its way, picking no favorites, biting all whom he chances to encounter.

A peculiar thing about this epidemic is that no one seems to take steps to prevent being bitten. In fact, his approach is welcomed by all. After the victim has been stung, he is done for, and he falls under a strange spell. He becomes worse and, as a last resort, the old family physician—old Doc Open Road—is summoned.

His case is filled with strange medicines. Here are boxes of mountain roads, phials of warm weather, fleecy clouds and blue skies. Lakes filled with bass and mountain streams of trout are included in his kit.

A few weeks of the doctor's medicines and the patient is convalescing. Another few days and he is normal, ready for work again.

Thousands of motorists fall under this strange spell each year and the old reliable doctor easily cares for them all. Judging from the activities shown in the camp goods department of the Western Auto Supply Co., the doctor will be in need of a staff of assistants to care for the motorists who will be bitten during the next few weeks.

W. P Kiley, Harry Carlson Now Operate Place Near City Hall

The garage formerly occupied by R. D. Stinson, 612½ East Broadway, in the alley just across from the city hall has been taken over by W. P. Kiley and Harry Carlson, two automobile men of exceptional experience in handling all makes of cars.

Mr. Kiley was formerly shop foreman for the C. L. Smith Chevrolet garage and Mr. Carlson formerly was connected with the Maxwell factory.

One feature for which they are to be commended is that all cars are very carefully worked over, especially so with coupes and sedans, the owners need never fear that the steering wheel nor cushions of their cars will ever get dirty or greasy.

Mr. Kiley states that they are trying to give the very best service possible and will call for and deliver all cars for repair work.

CIZEK SPEAKS ON BATTERY BENEFIT

Local Electric Dealer Says Changing Solution Does Not Charge It

Changing the solution in a storage battery does not charge it, according to H. M. Kuhn of the Cizek Auto Electric Co., 300 South Brand boulevard, Glendale distributors of Willard batteries.

An investigation has recently been made by the U. S. bureau of standards of certain solutions which were said to charge batteries instantly, or in a short time as compared with the usual process. These tests have shown, according to government reports, that batteries containing these solutions, contrary to the claims made for them, behave in accordance with well-established laws of electrochemistry.

The Cizek Auto Electrical Co., maintains one of the best equipped service departments in the southland, and tests and refills batteries of any make without charge to the motorist.

ing new roads, which they believe to be a capital investment.

In this connection, it is pointed out by engineers of the Automobile Club of Southern California that, with the constant development and improvement of the highway, the motorist will have his hands full in paying for maintenance, widening, and reconstruction and minor improvements as the demands increase, and that it would be an excessive burden to assess further taxes for new highway construction.

In a crash of four automobiles at a London street intersection recently only one man received slight injuries.

CHEVROLET GETS TRUCK INCREASE

Improved Model Registers Big Gain In Sales, Dealer Reports

The improved Chevrolet trucks, which have registered progressive gain since the new line was announced early this year, reached during April a production of 3,952, an increase of nearly 40 per cent over the 2831 trucks built during the corresponding month of 1924. May production of trucks is exceeding even that of April.

These figures were given out by James V. Hough of the James V. Hough Motor Co., 245 South Orange street, Glendale distributers.

Of the 3952 April truck production, 1440 were the commercial chassis which follows closely the design of the passenger car chassis. April, 1924, production of this type was 1011. The remaining 2512 trucks built last month were the utility express chassis of one ton capacity which carries the same power plant and controls as the commercial chassis but has a special heavy duty rear axle, large gears and bearings and a five-inch channel frame.

ACID TEST STOOD BY BUICK MODELS

Local Dealer Says Popularity Of Car Exceeds Supply At Factories

In view of the tremendous popularity that has established Buick leadership so firmly, it is no more than natural that at times the tremendous demand for Buicks is greater than even the immense factories of Buick can meet. Cars cannot be made rapidly enough to supply the market at times.

Such conditions as these readily explain Buick leadership in the opinion of William A. Tanner of Tanner & Hall, Glendale Buick distributers.

"This immense popularity with the public could not have been achieved if Buick cars had not more than always fulfilled their owners expectations," Mr. Hall said. "Buick has ever shown itself to be the greatest value in the automobile market regardless of price. Sales for the present season show that Buick popularity is still growing and that it will soon reach still greater heights."

Trophy for Faithful Service

I. J. REUTER, left, general manager of the Olds Motor Works, Lansing, Mich., who presented cup to CHARLES H. BLADES for twenty-eight years of service without losing time on account of an accident. The presentation was motif for a half holiday at the plant.

They took the veteran of the automobile industry from his forge last week to pay him the honor due one who has labored for twenty-eight years in an industry just twenty-eight years old. The veteran accepted a silver loving cup, his eyes so tear-dimmed he could not see it, and then the next day was at his post as usual to help make more and better automobiles, according to word received in Glendale by C. H. Hunter, of 208 West Broadway, local distributor of Oldsmobile cars.

"Uncle Charlie" Blades they call him in Lansing, Mich. He's down on the payroll of the Olds Motor Works as Charles H. Blades, foreman of the forge department. The anniversary of Charlie's twenty-eighth year of service, performed without having an accident serious enough to cause him to lose a day's work, and the opening game of the Oldsmobile-Fisher baseball league on a brand-new, diamond constructed on factory property were considered of sufficient import to curtail the day's work at the Olds plant and declare a half-holiday.

More than 3,000 workers of Olds Motor Works and the Fisher Body Co. Lansing plant, which supplies Oldsmobiles closed-car bodies, thronged the field when I. J. Reuter, general manager of Olds Motor Works, called Charlie to the home plate and presented him with the cup, which was inscribed: "Award of Safety. Presented to Charles H. Blades for twenty-eight years of faithful service in the automotive industry while participating in the success of Oldsmobile since 1897. The oldest employe of the industry without a lost-time accident."

CHRYSLER TURNS TO SPEED DEMON

Pasadenan Strips Stock Car, Remodels To Hit 110 Miles Per Hour

After a search for a racing car that extended over this country and Europe, Edward P. McMurtry, 21 Oak Grove avenue, Pasadena, wealthy sportsman and business man, came back to Glendale and bought a Chrysler touring car, which he has transformed into a racing car capable of turning a 110 mile gait.

McMurtry's inspection of the best European cars was made with the object of finding something that would be better than any racing car turned out in this country, but after he had looked over the best of the French, English and Belgian cars he came back and bought a Chrysler, a car that he had driven before he started his hunt for the ideal racer.

Stock Car Taken

Taking a stock touring Chrysler, he built a special aluminum body on the Chrysler chassis, keeping the Chrysler small bore motor, but installing a special panel board. He plans to make a slight alteration in the gear ratio that will permit him to compete on terms of equality, if not of superiority, with the best of the racing cars made in this country or abroad, and he will shortly be seen on some of the American tracks with his Chrysler speed machine. The alterations that he has made on the car cost him $6,000, but he claims that he has got a car now that will make the best of them take his dust.

The Chrysler racing car will be on exhibit in the showrooms of the Glendale Motor Car Co., 124 West Colorado street, Saturday and Sunday next, as McMurtry felt that he should permit Lyman P. Clark, who sold him the car, to have first chance to display the remodeled racer.

ADJUSTMENTS FOR TIRES IMPORTANT

Ratio Between Air Pressure And Load-Weight Found By Experimenting

"In the course of tire development, tire experiments have proven that among the most important factors in the proper treatment of tires is the adjustment of the ratio between the air pressure of the tires and the load to be carried," said William H. Hooper & Co., 222 East Broadway. "Miller engineers have made long and comprehensive studies of the proper amount of air to be used with certain loads. The life of the tires is actually lengthened and the service given is improved if these observations of the engineers are regarded.

"Overloading is a common fault and the disregard for careful adjustment of air pressure in the tires cause all sorts of tire troubles which are not attributable to the construction of the tire but to their use. The engineers and chemists are at work constantly improving the materials from which tires are made and the machinery for their production but all of the principles back of the construction of the tire are based on maintaining an air pressure commensurate with the load to be carried and the design of the tire.

"If the loads are increased the air pressure must be made to conform, otherwise there is an insufficient amount of air in the tires for the load carried and this produces under-inflation which causes an unnatural wear on the tires. If the load is too light for the air pressure carried there is not the resiliency or buoyancy to the tires that there should be. This is particularly true of balloon tires in which the variation of the air pressure is a matter to be most carefully attended."

Auto Thieves Called Commonest Of Crooks

side the road and strips it of everything that is removable.

Professional Thief

In addition to these, there is the professional thief who is in the definite business of stealing and selling motor vehicles. Many of these so-called "gangs" have representatives in various cities and offer to deliver any make of car on twenty-four hours' notice to the market.

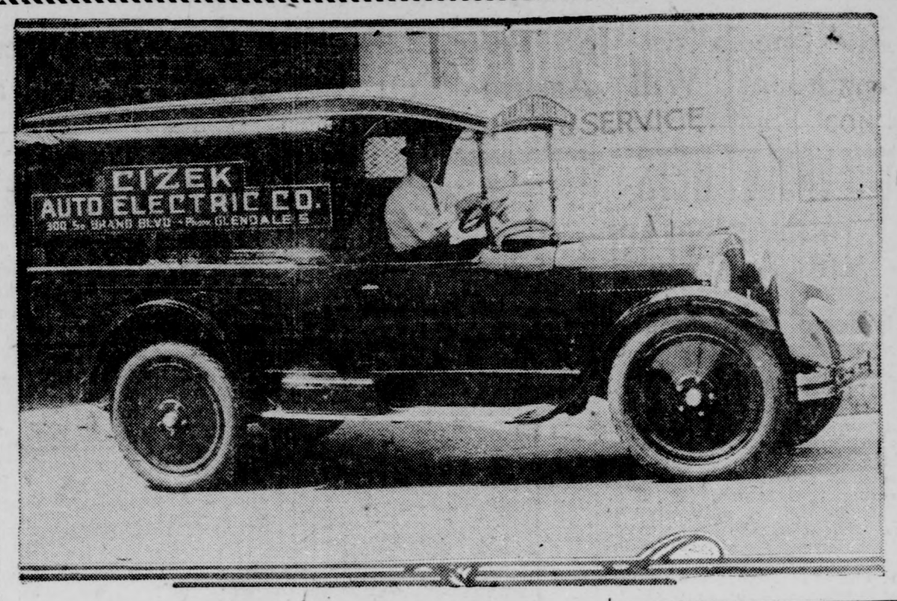
Some gangs specialize in the theft of high grade cars while others, who are more numerous take only the popular makes. These cars are often dismantled, parts are interchanged and motor numbers are altered. Bills of sale which have been forged and stolen registration certificates from outside states are used to make the sale appear legitimate.

Advice Extended

Automobile owners should always lock their cars whenever the vehicle is to be left for any length of time. It will greatly assist to thwart the thief if persons who are seen tampering with parked automobiles are reported to the police authorities. The individual owner should take care that his car is so marked that he could identify it in case of theft. A great many cars are located every year which are known to be stolen but which cannot be identified because the motor number has been destroyed. If these cars had been privately marked by the owner, identification would have been simple.

Better Able to Give Service

CIZEK AUTO ELECTRIC CO., 300 South Brand boulevard, has added a new delivery car, a DODGE commercial truck, furnished by R. E. CORRIGAN, 110 West Colorado street, local distributors for Dodge Brothers cars. The new truck is shown in the picture.



Cizek Auto Electric Co., battery experts, and Glendale agents for Willard storage batteries, located at 300 South Brand boulevard, has recently put into use a new Dodge commercial car to increase the efficiency and service of deliveries.

The Dodge service car was furnished by R. E. Corrigan, 110 West Colorado street, authorized representative of Dodge Brothers' autos. The new Dodge service models are highly popular with commercial concerns in solving their delivery problems, Mr. Corrigan said.

The car is economical and serviceable. It is large enough for the average delivery business, it is fast and contains many desirable features that other small trucks and delivery cars do not, according to Mr. Corrigan.

"The choice of the Dodge service car by the Cizek Auto Electric Co. is just another instance where Dodge supremacy has created a favorable impression with those who are in the automobile business."

CHANDLER MAKES RECORD IN TEST

Auto Sealed In High Gear Bucks Wind and Hills On Phoenix Run

When C. E. Greene of San Diego, wagered that he could drive a Chandler coach to Phoenix, Ariz., and return, sealed in high gear, he was reckoning only on the grades along the route and the power of the Pikes Peak motor. He succeeded in winning his wager, but instead of having to overcome only steep grades and bad roads, he had to win out under adverse conditions that few motorists have ever had to contend with, according to word received here by Barton Bros., 1119 South Brand boulevard, local distributors for Chandler automobiles.

A hard wind, so strong that it bulged the windshield and a sand storm that scored the plate glass of the windshield and the head lights so deeply that they had to be replaced, were two features of the high gear test that Mr. Greene had not reckoned with. The round trip from San Diego to Phoenix in high gear is a feat in itself; that the Chandler could complete the trip under the adverse conditions is a still more impressive demonstration of power and stamina.

Before leaving San Diego, Mr. Greene had the traffic transmission so locked that he could utilize only high gear and reverse. Without attempting to make a speed run, Mr. Greene made a very creditable record for the distance of more than 400 miles. From San Diego to Phoenix his time was 11 hours 26 minutes; the return trip was made in 12 hours 32 minutes. These figures are for elapsed time, including delays occasioned by tire changes.

EVER READY SHOP OPEN ALL NIGHT

Gas Station Gives With Every Purchase Chance On Ford Coupe

All-night service, a relatively recent departure in gasoline dispensing stations, has proved a success with the Ever Ready Service Station, 109 South Central avenue, according to Harry J. Seely, proprietor.

The Ever Ready is a super service station, open at all hours of the day or night. Gasoline, oils and accessories of all kinds are sold, and with each sale of $1 or more tickets are now being given which are good as chances on a new automobile to be given away by the station within a short time.

Night trade has grown considerably during the past six months, Seely says, and is steadily increasing.

CREDIT PLAN ON TIRES APPEALING

Viking Cords Sold By Local Concern On Partial Payment Plan

The motoring public of Glendale is taking advantage of the credit plan of buying tires, according to officials of the Smith Tire Co., 237 South Brand boulevard, where Viking cord tires are sold on the partial payment plan. This method enables the motorist to get full use of the tires while paying for them.

Viking cords, featured by the Smith Tire Co., carry a strong guarantee as to durability, wear and satisfaction. The guarantee is backed by the local dealers as well as the manufacturers, and officials of the local concern state motorists who have equipped their cars with Viking cords are expressing satisfaction at their mileage and usage daily.

OAKLAND STANDS TECHNICAL TEST

Series Conducted By College Proves Car's Efficiency Local Dealer Says

Artists claim that a curve is a symbol of beauty, hence when a series of technical tests were recently made by seven students of an engineering college to wring from the Oakland the mystery of its economy, they achieved a thing of beauty because the result of their findings was represented in a curve which showed the speed at which the economy was the maximum.

"A series of tests was recently conducted by a technical college to secure bona fide figures upon which to base the economy of various makes of cars," says John Neuschaefer, Glendale Oakland dealer. "The first test proved that the gasoline consumption of the Oakland resulted in an average of 25.8 miles per gallon. The next test was to determine the relation of acceleration to economy and this resulted in the Oakland surprising the observers by registering an increase in speed of from five to twenty-five miles an hour in high gear. The curve estabished by the economy tests disclosed that maximum economy was obtained at speeds varying between eighteen to twenty-five miles an hour, which are the relative speeds at which the majority of driving is done."

STUDEBAKER CAR FEATURES TOLD

Local Dealer Says Auto Must Be More Than Just Engine

The motor car must be more than an engine.

This is the verdict of R. L. Conover, vice-president and sales manager of the Packer Motor Co., Glendale dealers for Studebaker.

Engineers in recent years have had to turn their attention to pleasing appearance and comfort in the manufacture of cars. To such degree have motor car designers brought their betterments and perfections that the average car owner has to give his car so little attention that the improvements over old models escape his notice, Mr. Conover says.

"And yet, only within the year, automobile engineers have added conveniences to cars to such a degree that the present-day buyer must compare cars, must go over them point by point, if he is to save himself purchase of accessory equipment, if he is to be sure he has on his car conveniences of such marked advantage that without them he cheats himself."

A metal cap for soft drink bottles that may be pried off with a coin or knife has been invented.

REO RECOGNIZED AS WORTHY AUTO

So Says Local Dealer In Setting Forth Value Of Standard Car

It has been recognized for some time in the motor car industry as in most progressive lines of business that a worthy product gains through the years a popular, recognized acceptance. The sales value of this public acceptance is almost impossible to estimate, in the opinion of officials of the Reo Motor Car Co. of California, 124-126 South Orange street.

But what is only beginning to gain general recognition is the fact that the gaining of such initial good will is only the first step in the motor car industry. Every dealer organization of every automobile company either furthers this initial good will or checks it. To assure uninterrupted transportation, and transportation must be uninterrupted if the owner is to obtain full return on his investment, the servicing of the car must be at least on a par with its merits.

FORD AGENCY HAS NEW MANAGERS

Three Glendale Men Hope To Carry On Good Work Of Predecessor

In taking over the John G. Caddell Ford agency on South Brand boulevard at San Fernando road, Dan Campbell, Jr., Marshall Pearson and Al Land, all three young Glendale business men, hope to perpetuate the policies and service maintained during the years that Mr. Caddell operated the agency.

"Mr. Caddell ran one of the oldest and most profitable Ford agencies in the Los Angeles district. He was noted for the service he rendered, courteous treatment his patrons always received and the values he maintained. We will endeavor to continue this reputation," said Mr. Land. Mr. Land has for more than ten years been connected with Ford agencies in Glendale, spending many years in the shop before going into the sales department.

"We want Glendale business at all times. All that we ask is a chance to figure on every Ford sale that is made in the San Fernando valley, we'll do the rest."

HUPP PREPARING FOR FUTURE USES

Local Distributor Believes Manufacturer Should 'Look Ahead'

While the so-called saturation point in the motor car industry will ever be in the distant future, due to growth in population and the ever-widening and new uses to which the motor car will be put, the time has arrived for intensive organization and co-ordination; in other words, preparation for the "long haul" period, in the opinion of H. V. White, manager of the H. W. Swanson Hupmobile agency, 228 South Brand boulevard.

"The motor car company that is building for permanence must make preparation for at least five years in advance," he says. "Intensive merchandising requires intensive organization, which means sound engineering, economical production and salesmanship of the highest order in the whole dealer organization.

"The Hupp Motor Co. is putting into operation new methods of production and merchandising that will bear fruit years in the future."

CHRYSLER SALES CLIMB OVER TOP

Local Dealer Reports Spurt During April Eclipsing All Other Records

Chrysler dealers over the country are pluming themselves on their share of the accomplishments of the organization in reaching the record figure for sales, during April, of any month in the firm's history, when reports showed that the sales had increased 116 per cent over those of the same week last year, and that they were 65 per cent above those of the previous highest week in 1924.

"The only time Chrysler sales showed any drop," says Lyman P. Clark, president of the Glendale Motor Car Co. ,124 West Colorado street, local dealer, "was when the men in the factory were taken off production and put to rearranging the plant to meet the growing demand for the Chrysler cars by increased output. But just as soon as the plant was rearranged, the production figures shot away up and the sales kept pace with them, for it is the policy of the Chrysler organization to avoid carefuly any tendency to load up its dealers with more cars than they can dispose of.

"When you consider that the Chrysler only appeared on the market a year and a half ago, it is one of the phenomenal accomplishments of the automotive industry that any car should have been able to take and hold the place that the Chrysler has done, were it not for the merit that is built into every Chrysler and the real, dollar-for-dollar value that the Chrysler gives in these days when competition is so keen and when only the fit can survive and hold the leadership."

State's Beauty Told In Noted Poet's Line

gold-seekers who crossed the plains and came around the Horn in quest of the treasure hordes of the Pacific, created a distinct type of civilization different from all with which the world had previously been familiar. Even the language of the mining camps developed a jargon of its own.

It finds its culmination in the Mariposa foothills, at Old Hornitos, at Columbia in the Mother Lode, and at Grass Valley and Old Shaste in the northern mining district. Hornitos and Columbia fall now into the category of "cities that were." They are strange, ghostly settlements, veritable wraiths of a bygone age, the life of which has vanished and irongated buildings and winding narrow streets and crumbling adobe remain as mute physical records of the glory that was.

Golden Jubilee

This is the Seventy-fifth anniversary of the statehood of California and co-incident with the celebration of Admission Day, interest will be revived in the stirring era of seventy-five years ago, an interest that will have its practical commercial value in attracting the attention of the world to a district that combines a threefold historical background with a diversified scenery, a marvelously temperate atmosphere with great fertility of soil.

Interest will be revived in the history of the Mission Fathers and in the twenty-one mission stations that stand along the concrete ribbon of El Camino Real. Attention will be directed to the glorious panoramas offered by the great Redwood districts of Mendocino, Humboldt and Del Norte. Tourist traffic will be directed to Yosemite, to Mt. Lassen, to General Grant and Sequoia and to the National Monuments of the Pinnacles, Muir Woods and Palm Springs. Travel will increase to the attractive northeast country to the Modoc Lava Beds, to the Ice Caves and waterfalls of Lassen and Siskiyou and to the section along the Oregon boundary over which looms in awe-inspiring majesty the white-capped cone of Shasta.

Limitless Variety

No other district in the world has such a variety of attraction as has California. We have the lofty mountains of Alpine Switzerland; we have the pounding surf and rock-bound coast of the northern shores of Britain; the Sacramento and San Joaquin are two of the world's great rivers and through a thousand glacier-carved canyons wind delightful streams to offer a perennial lure to the angler; here are too, warm sunlit strands with a wide expanse of beach and gently sloping ocean bed with the potential possibilities of a Deauville or a Brighton.

But not only in scenic delight is California remarkable. Its wealth in mineral output and in agricultural products as well as in the manufactured materials of industry and its historical background, so deeply tinged with romance, make it a true tourists' paradise offering to the world a "Land of Heart's Desire."

Mexico to Open Two International Roads

Of interest to motorists desiring to visit Mexico by automobile is the recent announcement made by Col. Adalberto Tejada, secretary of communications and public works in the cabinet of President Calles, to the effect that within the next four months two great highways of international importance will be under construction in Mexico and another will be nearing completion.

One of the proposed highways is from Mexico City to the Laredo gateway into the United States; another is from Mexico City to Tampico the oil district of Mexico and the third is the completion of a twenty-mile gap across the mountains in the state of Guerrero which will bridge both terminals of the Mexico City-Acapulco highways. A gasoline tax is now in effect to provide funds for these projects, the producers bearing the burden of the tax rather than the consumer.

HIGHWAY WIDENED

The recent widening of the highway between King City and San Lucas has made a big improvement in the road and makes same much safer for motoring, acording to the touring bureau of the National Automobile club.

RED BLUFF OPEN

Red Bluff to Susanville is now open and in good condition with the exception of a few muddy stretches, according to the touring bureau of the National Automobile club.

Dynamite Is Used to Open Crater Lake Road

Dynamite and other high explosives are now being used in an effort to remove the bank of snow covering the rim of Crater lake in southern Oregon by a crew of men under the direction of Col. C. G. Thompson, superintendent of the Crater Lake National park, according to a recent report from the touring department of the National Automobile club. Every effort is being made in order that the roadway around the rim of the park may be open by July 1, the official opening date.

Distasteful medicines may be administered through the skin by use of a newly perfected electrical apparatus.

NASH SALES SET ANOTHER RECORD

April Mark Set Precedent, May Expected To Even Exceed That

Nash Motors has established another new sales and production record. April upset all previous marks, being the biggest production and sales month in the company's history, exceeding any previous month by 10.1 per cent. Reports from the offices of the Nash Motors Co., indicate that there is no let-up in the demand and with increased production at both the Kenosha and Milwaukee plants it is believed that May will wrest production and sales honors from April, according to Charles McDaniel, of McDaniel Motor Co., 1234 South Brand boulevard.

"During the month of April the company shipped 82.8 per cent more cars than in April, 1924," said McDaniel. "The most interesting feature of this new record is that cars are going into buyers hands and even though the Nash factories are producing more cars than ever before, still the popularity of the new line is such that dealers throughout the country are carrying large lists of unfilled retail orders."

RENEWING AUTO CAR IS EXPLAINED

Unusual and Unique Service Is Offered Glendale Motoring Public

"Remanufacturing, as practiced by the modern machine company, is thorough rebuilding of the car so that it is, for every practical purpose, as good as the day it left the factory," declares Edward Holland, head of the Edward Holland Co., Inc., 341 West Colorado street. "Our work must not be confused with the ordinary 'overhaul job' wherein many makeshift methods and much unnecessary handwork are employed, and many vital operations are not carried out because both facilities and skill are lacking.

"I have gone the limit to give Glendale motorists a remanufacturing service which leaves nothing to ask for or criticize. Nothing like this new service is obtainable elsewhere in Glendale today. We put old cars into first class condition and guarantee them the same as the factory guaranteed the new car."

SPEED KINGS TO SET NEW RECORDS

Twenty-One Starters Ready For Rig Race Saturday At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, May 28.—Only a few more cars and doubtful starters remained to be qualified today for the 500-mile Memorial day automobile race at Indianapolis motor speedway.

With twenty-one starters assured in Saturday's field, interest was centered today on whether or not the Skelly special, a Ford racer, another Duesenberg piloted by Phil Shafer and Bob McDonough's Miller-motored car, would successfully pass the elimination trials this afternoon.

Speedway officials were unanimously agreed today that all former records would be shattered Saturday, following the dizzy trial tests turned in by veteran pilots in the last two days. With very few exceptions, every driver that has already qualified easily broke Tommy Milton's former record for the track, made two years ago.

Old-time speedway fans today declared that the winner of this year's race would have to average 110 miles an hour or better. Last year the winner's average was slightly better than 98 miles an hour.

BOXING NOTES

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Maxie Rosenbloom, New York middleweight, held a draw today with Johnny Burns, San Francisco, following their eight round battle here last night. Freddie Hoppe, San Francisco lightweight, surprised everybody by earning a draw with Frankie Darren, Salt Lake, in the six round semi-final.

BRAVES BEAT GIANTS

The Braves are giving our Mr. McGraw much to think about. They turned in a victory over the Giants yesterday, 5 to 3, making three straight defeats for the league leaders.

XXXIV—Sweet Fruits

Apples are sometimes of the sweet variety and under such circumstances cannot be used as acid fruit, nor are such apples, as a rule, sufficiently sweet really to be classed as sweet fruit.

The sweet fruits in common use are classed as follows: Bananas, figs, raisins, persimmons, and dates. Though the bananas are classed as a sweet fruit, they can hardly be classed as a sweet fruit in comparison with dates, figs, raisins and sweet fruits of this variety. Bananas are more closely related to bread than any other fruit. In some countries they are as staple an article of food as bread is with us.

Remember, however, that the bananas that come to us are cut green and do not ripen properly. Great care should be used in selecting properly-ripened bananas. The skin of a properly-ripened banana that is ready to eat, is covered with dark brown spots something like freckles, a banana is not too ripe to eat even if the skin turns black, providing, that it has not been bruised in handling and the meat inside is solid and free from soft spots

Many will, no doubt, find it difficult to secure fresh acid fruits, and under such circumstances unfermented fruit juices may be used such as are found in the grape and apple without the addition of preservatives.

Dried fruits may also be used though they are not quite as satisfactory, yet may be used instead of the fresh variety and one will secure results that are almost as satisfactory, especially if the fruits have been dried without the use of sulphur, which has a detrimental influence and should not be eaten. Always ask for unsulphured dried fruits and be sure and get them.

Fruit Diet No. 1—Three meals daily of acid fruits; not more than one kind of fruit to be eaten at one meal. On this regimen one can satisfy the appetite on any particular kind of fruit that may be selected for that meal.

Fruit Diet No. 2—Two meals daily of acid fruits, to be taken from 11 to 12:30 and from 5 to 7 o'clock. On this regimen any two kinds of fruit that are desired may be used at each meal.

Tomorrow—More Fruit Diets

Dynamiters Play Three Football Games at Home In Heavyweight Division

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

As the result of the meeting of the athletic heads of the eight schools which are members of the newly formed Coast league, the football schedule for the coming 1925 season was drawn up yesterday.

This season the Class B games will be played on Fridays, while the Class A and C tilts come off the following day with the grounds reversed. The Class C contests will all be played as preliminaries to the heavyweight contests.

The Dynamiters' Class A team opens the season here with South Pasadena, October 17. With this arrangement, school will have started a little over a month and the Dynamiters should be in fairly good shape to gain revenge for the stinging defeat administered by the Tigers last year after Glendale had cinched the Central league pennant. The schedule for the 1925 season follows:

CLASS A AND C SCHEDULE

October 17—South Pasadena at GLENDALE.
October 24—GLENDALE at San Diego.
October 31—Long Beach at GLENDALE.
November 7—GLENDALE at Santa Ana.
November 14—Whittier at GLENDALE.
November 28—GLENDALE at Pasadena.

CLASS B SCHEDULE

October 16—GLENDALE at South Pasadena.
October 23—San Diego at GLENDALE.
October 30—GLENDALE at Long Beach.
November 6—Santa Ana at Glendale.
November 13—Alhambra at GLENDALE.
November 20—GLENDALE at Whittier.
November 27—Pasadena at GLENDALE.

HULI TRUCKS WIN SLUGGING MATCH

Defeat Glendale Creamery Team 28 to 0; Hitting High, Wide, Often

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

The Huli Truckers were hitting them high, wide and often in the slugfest staged yesterday at the Broadway High school grounds, when the Glendale Creamery was defeated 28 to 0 in a Twilight league match. The truckmen set a new record for a six-inning game, when forty-nine times at bat were chalked up. In reality, Huli Truck batters faced cream pitchers fifty-two times in six innings, since there were two walks issued and one man hit by a pitcher.

Three hurlers tossed 'em for the Glendale Creamery, while two moundsmen shared the honors for the Huli Trucks. Hursley started for the cream peddlers but lasted two innings, during which time fifteen runs and thirteen hits were made. Malloy went in for one inning, and three runs and five hits resulted. Falter, commonly called "Tiny," heaved the horsehide for the three remaining innings, which netted the truckmen ten runs and a like number of hits.

Hitting Stars

C. Jensen worked the first three innings for the truckmen, getting three strikeouts, issued one walk and allowed one hit—a single by McMullin into center. Ran Doll tossed the pellet for three frames, got five strikeouts, walked one, and was rapped for a double, which would have been an out only "Huli" Jensen, in centerfield (not the former pitcher) forgot to catch it when Marotz connected.

"Spark Plug" Wilson led the truckmen in hitting, getting five hits in six trips to the plate. Being lead-off man, he batted often—in the first and fifth he was up twice. He would have hit 1.000 only Heacock fumbled Sparky's drive in the fifth inning on his second trip to the platter. Barney Google's playmate nosed out C. Jensen in batting, C. Jensen getting four hits out of five trips to the platter.

Today's game will be between the Public Service and the Christian Church teams, and will end the third week of the first round of play.

SPORT CHATTER

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 28.—With only thirty-six hours remaining before Paul Berlenbach, an obscure wrestler two years ago, makes his supreme bid for fame and fortune against Mike McTigue, world's champion, at the milk fund show tomorrow night, a sudden influx of McTigue generally left last minute quotations at even money and the public without a choice between the champion and challenger.

Sentimentally, the public is with Berlenbach, neck and heels, but show me a sentimental dollar and I will show you a courteous subway guard. The shift in the odds was merely a result of the belated realization that while Berlenbach holds the advantage of youth and the sock, McTigue can summon experience and the wiles of the ring whenever need, which probably will be often.

The combination of rushing slugger versus nimble stepper promised the greatest meeting of the outdoor season and applications for tickets have reacted accordingly. From present indications the 70,000 capacity of the Yankee stadium will be stretched to its elastic limits for the show, provided weather conditions are propitious.

The present forecast for tomorrow night was for fair and warmer and Tex Rickard's non-stop record seemed safe.

Off-hand the writer would venture to say that the only man who will need luck tomorrow night is Mike McTigue. Faced by a hitter so accurate and forceful that he has punched over twenty-one of his twenty-four opponents to date, McTigue himself is none too certain that one of his own punches will not beat him.

Mike has a reconstructed right hand that might collapse at almost any time during the fifteen rounds. This is the only question disturbing the promoters now that everything is in readiness and the boxers merely resting in their quarters against the hour when the bell will call them out. The remaining headliners which include Jack Delaney vs. Tony Marullo and Jimmy Slattery vs. Dick Burke—are as fit as human flesh can be.

CONTRACTORS TO BID ON ATWATER SCHOOL

Addition to Structure Will Be Built During Summer Months; Political Rally Tonight for Wardlaw

After months of delay, during which plans have been held up for various reasons, bids on the proposed $81,000 addition to the Atwater grammar school were advertised for today by the Los Angeles Board of Education.

Bids will be opened in approximately two weeks' time, and the contract for the new school let to the lowest bidder. Plans call for new class rooms, an auditorium and other features.

Only preliminary work on the new structure will be done prior to the closing of school in June. Most of the construction will take place during the summer vacation months, so that the minimum of disturbance will be caused by the work.

Plan Political Rally

Supporters of Charlie T. Wardlaw, candidate for city councilman in the First district, will parade the streets of Atwater Park and the Ivanhoe district tonight, with bands and flaring torches, in an old-fashioned political rally. Arrangements to have Mr. Wardlaw accompany the expedition and speak to voters at various points where stops will be made have been completed by the Wardlaw boosters. Buglers from the Glendale Drum and Bugle Corps will announce the arrival of the Wardlaw party in the different parts of the district. Short talks will be made by Mr. Wardlaw, Bob Hanley, Los Angeles attorney, who is backing the campaign; Arthur M. Gilman, president of the Atwater Improvement association, and others.

Graduation Exercises

Graduation exercises at the Atwater Grammar school will take place on Wednesday night, June 24. Miss Rosalind Gates, principal, announced tentative plans for the graduating exercises today. Twenty-four pupils, finishing the work of the grammar grades, will be issued certificates. Announcement of where the graduating exercises will take place will be made later, Miss Gates said.

Pupils Enter Competition

Pupils at the Atwater school have carried off honors in a number of inter-school athletic events during the past week. Atwater students took first place in a "posture parade" out of twelve schools entered. Second place in advanced track division went to the local athletes, when they competed against other grammar schools of Los Angeles at Belmont High school field. Twenty girl pupils are entered in the music memory contest at Manual Arts High school under the direction of Miss Quinten, music director at the school. Results of this contest have not yet been announced.

Scouts Add New Members

Seven new members have been admitted to Atwater troop, Boy Scouts of America, during the membership drive that is now in progress. More new members are being sought by the boys. Scoutmaster Peterman announced that the old-paper drive of the Scouts will be concluded on Saturday of this week. All old papers should be left at the Wardlaw-for-Council headquarters, on Glendale boulevard, before that time.

Mrs. R. W. Meeker Is Home From Convention

"Mrs. Redwood Meeker" was the title won by Mrs. R. W. Meeker at the recent state convention of California Federation of Women's clubs at Santa Cruz, where it was her happiness to report that, as chairman of the Redwood Memorial Grove fund for Los Angeles district of the state federation, she has raised over $15,000. This far surpasses the amount raised in any other district in the state.

Mrs. Meeker, with Mrs. Gissen of Los Angeles, motored forth for the convention. After the final session, they visited in San Francisco, arriving home Monday night of this week.

"It was a very wonderful convention," said Mrs. Meeker. "Santa Cruz extended the finest of hospitality to the club delegates. Los Angeles district, in which Glendale is represented, received much mention, and Mrs. Charles H. Toll, retiring district president, was praised as one of California's leading clubwomen. Southern California may well be proud of her, and of Mrs. John C. Urquhart, retiring state presidenty who presided so graciously. Dr. Mariana Bertola of San Francisco, state president-elect, is also a club leader of prominence, and inspiring predictions are made for her administration. She is a business woman, and it will be interesting to witness her activities as president of the state federation."

In discussing the memorial grove fund Mrs. Meeker said: "I am confident that when all returns are in, Los Angeles district will have over $16,000 to its credit."

The HOUSE Of The ARROW

A SERIAL STORY WRITTEN BY A. E. W. MASON

Protected By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"Did he break the seals on the reception rooms?" Betty Harlowe asked.

"Oh, no," said Ann. "Why, he told us that he couldn't do that without the commissaire."

"Yes, he told us that," Betty remarked dryly. "But I was wondering whether he meant what he told us."

"Oh, I don't think Monsieur Hanaud's alarming," said Ann. She gave Jim Frobisher the impression that at any moment she might call him a dear old thing. She had quite got over the first little shock which the announcement of his presence had caused her. "Besides," and she sat down by the side of Betty in the window-seat and looked with the frankest confidence at Jim—"besides, we can feel safe now, anyway."

Jim Frobisher threw up his hands in despair. That queer look of aloofness had played him false with Ann Upcott now, as it had already done with Betty. If these two girls had called on him for help when a sudden squall found them in an open sailing-boat with the sheet of the sail made fast, or on the ice-slope of a mountain, or with a rhinoceros lumbering towards them out of some forest of the Nile, he would not have shrunk from their trust. But this was quite a different matter. They were calmly pitting him against Hanaud.

"You were safe before," he exclaimed. "Hanaud is not your enemy, and as for me, I have neither experience nor natural gifts for this sort of work"—and he broke off with a groan. For both the girls were watching him with a smile of complete disbelief.

"Good heavens, they think that I am being astute," he reflected, "and the more I confess my incapacity the astuter they'll take me to be." He gave up all arguments. "Of course I am absolutely at your service," he said.

"Thank you," said Betty. "You will bring your luggage from your hotel and stay here, won't you?"

Jim was tempted to accept that invitation. But, on the one hand, he might wish to see Hanaud at the Grande Taverne; or Hanaud might wish to see him, and secrecy was to be the condition of such meetings. It was better that he should keep his freedom of movement complete.

"I won't put you to so much trouble, Betty," he replied. "There's no reason in the world that I should. A call over the telephone and in five minutes I am at your side."

"It looks a little inhospitable in me," she began, and the door opened, and Hanaud entered the room.

"I left my hat and stick here," he said. He picked them up and bowed to the girls.

"You have seen everything, Monsieur Hanaud?" Betty asked.

"Everything, Mademoiselle. I shall not trouble you again until the report of the analysis is in my hands. I wish you a good morning."

Betty slipped off the window-seat and accompanied him out into the hall. It appeared to Jim Frobisher that she was seeking to make some amends for her ill-humor; and when he heard her voice he thought to detect in it some note of apology.

"I shall be very glad if you will let me know the sense of that report as soon as possible," she pleaded. "You, better than any one, will understand that this is a difficult hour for me."

"I understand very well, Mademoiselle," Hanaud answered gravely. "I will see to it that the hour is not prolonged."

Jim, watching them through the doorway, as they stood together in the sunlit hall, felt ever so slight a touch upon his arm. He wheeled about quickly. Ann Upcott was at his side with all the liveliness and even the delicate color gone from her face, and a wild and desperate appeal in her eyes.

"You will come and stay here? Oh, please!" she whispered.

"I have just refused," he answered. "You heard me."

"I know," she went on, the words stumbling over one another from her lips. "But take back your refusal. Do! Oh, I am frightened out of my wits. I don't understand anything. I am terrified!" And she clasped her hands together in supplication. Jim had never seen fear so stark, no, not even in Betty's eyes a few minutes ago. It robbed her exquisite face of all its beauty, and made it in a second, haggard and old. But before he could answer, a stick clattered loudly upon the pavement of the hall and startled them both like the crack of a pistol.

Jim looked through the doorway. Hanaud was stooping to pick up his cane. Betty made a dive for it, but Hanaud already had it in his hands.

"I thank you, Mademoiselle, but I can still touch my toes. Every morning I do it five times in my pajamas," and with a laugh he ran down the couple of steps into the courtyard and with that curiously quick saunter of his was out into the street of Charles-Robert in a moment. When Jim turned again to Ann Upcott, the fear had gone from her face so completely that he could hardly believe his eyes.

"Betty, he is going to stay," she cried gaily.

"So I inferred," replied Betty with a curious smile as she came back into the room.

CHAPTER SEVEN
EXIT WABERSKI

Jim Frobisher neither saw nor heard any more of Hanaud that day. He fetched his luggage away from the hotel and spent the evening with Betty Harlowe and Ann Upcott at the Maison Grenelle. They took their coffee after dinner in the garden behind the house, descending to it by a short flight of stone steps from a great door at the back of the hall. And by some sort of unspoken compact they avoided all mention of Waberski's charge. They had nothing to do but to wait now for the analyst's report. But the long line of high, shuttered windows just above their heads, the windows of the reception rooms, forbade them to forget the subject, and their conversation perpetually dwindled down into long silences. It was cool out here in the dark garden, cool and very still; so that the bustle of a bird among the leaves of the sycamores startled them and the rare footsteps of a passer-by in the little street of Charles-Robert rang out as though they would wake a dreaming city. Jim noticed that once or twice Ann Upcott leaned swiftly forward and stared across the dark lawns and glimmering paths to the great screen of tall trees, as if her eyes had detected a movement among their stems. But on each occasion she said nothing and with an almost inaudible sigh sank back in her chair.

"Is there a door into the garden from the street?" Frobisher asked, and Betty answered him.

"No. There is a passage at the end of the house under the reception rooms from the courtyard which the gardeners use. The only other entrance is through the hall behind us. This old house was built in days when your house really was your castle and the fewer entrances, the more safely you slept."

The clocks of that city of Clocks clashed out the hour of 11, throwing the sounds of their strokes backwards and forwards above the pinnacles and roof-tops in a sort of rivalry. Betty rose to her feet.

"There's a day gone, at all events," she said, and Ann Upcott agreed with a breath of relief. To Jim it seemed a pitiful thing that these two girls, to whom each day should be a succession of sparkling hours all too short, must be rejoicing quietly, almost gratefully, that another of them had passed.

"It should be the last of the bad days," he said, and Betty turned swiftly towards him, her great eyes shining in the darkness.

"Good night, Jim," she said, her voice ever so slightly lingering like a caress upon his name and she held out her hand. "It's terribly dull for you, but we are not unselfish enough to let you go. You see, we are shunned just now—oh, it's natural! To have you with us means a great deal. For one thing," and there came a little lilt in her voice, "I shall sleep tonight." She ran up the steps and stood for a moment against the light from the hall. "A long-legged slip of a girl, in black silk stockings"—this Mr. Haslitt had spoken of her as she was five years ago, and the description fitted her still.

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram.

Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterruptedly.

Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white space that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white spaces remain uninterruptedly.

UNCLE WIGGILY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Copyright, 1925, By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE PROUD TOADSTOOL

Outside of Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow, on the edge of the woods, grew a toadstool. He was a little larger than some of the other toadstools and mushrooms growing near it, and for that reason this toadstool was rather proud—just because of his size.

One day, when Uncle Wiggily was hopping around, raking up the leaves in the yard and making a flower bed for his new wife, some of the many rabbit children, hopping about in the woods, declared:

"Oh, Daddy! See this big mushroom! May we pick it and eat it?"

For mushrooms are good to eat, you know. But Mr. Longears had told the little rabbits never to eat anything they found in the woods without first showing it to him or Mrs. Longears. And when he hopped over, while the little bunnies waited, and looked at what they pointed out, Uncle Wiggily said:

"It is a good thing you called to me about this—it isn't a mushroom at all. It is a poison toadstool. Don't touch it. It is a large toadstool and not good to eat."

So the little bunnies hopped on until they found some mushrooms growing, and after Uncle Wiggily had made sure that these were safe for the little boy and girl rabbits to eat, he hopped back to the flower bed.

But the toadstool, growing up in the woods, was made more proud than ever on hearing what Uncle Wiggily had said.

"Did you ever hear about me?" asked the toadstool of others of his kind growing near.

"What about you?" asked one.

"Uncle Wiggily said I was very large," was the answer. "This gives me something to live for. Now I have an ambition in life," and the toadstool drew himself up more proudly than ever.

"What are you going to do?" asked a little fungus just sprouting up out of the ground. "What is your ambition?"

"I am going to keep on growing until I become a tree," said the toadstool. "That is what I am going to do. I shall swell out my stem, make it grow taller and spread my top until I am like a tree. I am going to grow into the largest toadstool in all the world!"

"Pooh! You can't do that!" laughed the others. But the more they laughed the prouder the toadstool became. After a while he became so proud that he would not speak to any of the others, and they left him alone. But the big fellow did not care.

He pulled, he stretched, he strained with all his might to grow larger. And, whether it was because of this, or because the ground where he grew was richer and better, or because the sun shown more warmly on him, and the rain fell more gently, I do not know. But certainly the toadstool grew and grew until he was very large indeed.

This made him prouder than ever, and he scarcely so much as looked down on the smaller, more humble toadstools at his feet.

"Surely, I am growing into a big tree!" thought the proud toadstool. "Soon the other trees will nod to me. Then they will speak to me as one of themselves. It is a great thing to be proud and ambitious!"

Then, one day, came a great rain storm. Uncle Wiggily and his new wife had been out in the woods visiting Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig. It was clear when they started for their hollow stump bungalow, but before they reached it the rain pelted down.

"Oh, dear! I have on my new hat and we have no umbrella," cried Mrs. Longears. "We'll get soaking wet!"

Then Uncle Wiggily looked off through the trees and when he saw something his pink nose twinkled.

"We shall not get wet, my dear," said he to his wife. "I see, growing down the path, that big toadstool that children thought was a mushroom the other day. My, how it has grown! I'll pick it and use it for an umbrella. It will be just the thing!

Then the rabbit gentleman broke off the proud stool close to the earth, and, holding it by the stem, he carried it so that the broad, spreading top kept all the rain off him and his wife.

"Oh! Oh!" cried the toadstool when he found himself uprooted forever. "This is the end of me. But then perhaps it is better to be an umbrella for a rabbit gentleman than to grow into a tree." And I think so myself. Anyhow, if the carving fork doesn't spread peanut butter on the cellar door and try to slide down, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the guinea hen.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE
GLENDALE PROPERTY

DO NOT PAY RENT—Buy a real home, with only three hundred dollars down and thirty-five dollars a month. Almost new, 4 rooms and garage; cement porch, awnings across front, one of the finest gardens in Glendale; just ready to eat. Two rows of thornless blackberries, vines loaded with fruit. Fruit trees, flowers and lawn. Come quick and look at this. Price $4750.

COME, LOOK AT THIS—A beautiful stream of water running the full length of the lot with large drooping willow trees, lilies, gold fish, rocks and water falls, all kinds of bearing fruit trees, new stucco house, large living rm. with dome ceiling, magnificent view from every window, mountain and valley, very fine homes adjoining; one blk. from L. A. car line and blvd., in beautiful Verdugo Woodlands. Lot 75x185. Owner has gone north and wants to sell. Will take $14,500. Very easy terms. This will not last, as running streams of water are very scarce. See this right now.

3-4 ACRE ESTATE

Nestled among beautiful, large shade trees, palm trees and fruit trees is a 7-room strictly modern home, two blocks from schools and car line in the heart of Glendale. If you want a place to raise fur-bearing rabbits, chickens or pigeons this place will suit you. There are few places like this left in Glendale.

I HAVE SPENT THE PAST WEEK securing acreage for sale in the San Fernando valley. I have found three pieces of 5, 10 and 60 acres in the frostless section, fine orange and lemon groves adjoining. Priced at the low figure of $1000 per acre, with the present development of the valley, values should double in the next year. Now is the time to get located before the rise in prices. Let me show you these and others.

2 ACRES HIGHLY DEVELOPED, corner of beautiful Sherman Way and Los Angeles car line. Six-room modern stucco house. Also a good 4-room house, garage, equipment for 2000 hens, brooder house, complete, full bearing trees, shrubs and flowers. Good income. Owner too old to care for place. Will make a very attractive price or will take exchange, most any desirable location. It will pay you to look at this property.

Mrs. Montgomery Said

"Oh, what a beautiful outlook," as she stood on the front porch of a stucco bungalow we offered at $6750 on easy terms. And she was equally as pleased with the interior arrangement, the five large rooms, the good taste shown in the decorations, and when she raved about the corner breakfast room with its many windows, we knew the sale was as good as made. When Mr. Montgomery came out to O. K. her selection we had to satisfy him as to location and value. It was easy. The close-in northwest with all its building activity, the proximity to the park with its tennis courts and pool, the short distance to transportation and the certainty of greater future value did the trick. Now, best of all, we have another waiting for you to move right into. Call us at once—let us have the pleasure of settling your home hunting troubles.

WHEREAS, the Council of the City of Glendale, at its regular meeting held on the 7th day of May, 1925, by vote of two-thirds of all its members, duly passed and adopted a Resolution No. 2832 determining that the public interest and necessity demand the acquisition, construction and completion by said City of Glendale of that certain municipal improvement hereinafter in this ordinance described, and that the estimated cost of said municipal improvement will be too great to be paid out of the ordinary annual income and revenue of said City, and that the expenditure of the cost of said improvement cannot be provided for out of the ordinary revenue of said City, and that the public interest demands the expenditure for municipal purposes of a certain sum of money for the purpose of acquiring said improvement, as more particularly appears from said Resolution on file in the office of the City Clerk, which is hereby referred to for all particulars;

LA BARBA PRIMED FOR SILVA BOUT

Olympic Contender To Meet Teddy At Hollywood Tomorrow Night

It is going to be a great night over at the Hollywood American Legion stadium tomorrow when Fidel La Barba fights the main go with Teddy Silva. They are both good boys and each one has a definite reason for winning over the other.

La Barba is being primed for a fight with Pancho Villa, flyweight champion of the world. George Blake, Fidel's manager believes that experience is a great teacher so that La Barba is having some keen competition of late.

And Teddy Silva knows he will have to get out and strut his stuff as he never did before or he will lose his drawing attraction. Anyone knows that if a fighter is on the edge of public favor he is going to fight to save something else besides his neck.

For the semi-windup Young Datto will throw gloves at Frankie Monroe. Datto is remembered for the wonderful scrap and decision he won two weeks ago at Hollywood over Larry Murphy.

Tom Gallery, matchmaker, has arranged a "knockout" bill and an early sellout is assured.

SHIPPING DEAL

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Confirmation of the plan of San Francisco capitalists to purchase the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. came this afternoon in a formal statement issued by Herman Fleishhacker.

"My associates and myself have agreed to purchase the larger part of the stock of the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. which will be outstanding after the stock held by W. R. Grace & Co. has been retired through exchange for boats now in the service between San Francisco, Los Angeles, New York and Central American and West Indian ports," said Fleishhacker's statement.

"The largest minority stockholder, with over 90,000 shares has agreed to sell, and we have also offered the same price per share for all of the remaining stock of the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. in the hands of the public. W. R. Grace & Co., with the boats they have taken over, will insure continuation of the boats between California and Central American and West Indian ports, also the inter-coastal service to New York.

"Our purchase is in the interest of harmonizing and developing a trans-Pacific merchant marine under the American flag, in line with President Coolidge's policy."

BOARD OF TRADE

CHICAGO, May 28.—Denying that he was in Chicago either to confer with officials of the board of trade or to take any summary action against the board for alleged price manipulations was issued here today by Secretary of Agriculture Jardine on his arrival here for two speeches.

"The good men of the board of trade realize that the board must keep the confidence of the public and see to it there is no gambling on the board," Jardine said, "for when gambling is known to exist, too many people think the board of trade is a damn nuisance.

"To keep this confidence, the board must clean house, but I am not here to do it for them."

Jardine also declared that when there is a spread of 15 cents a bushel in the price of wheat in one day, "that is gambling." Such a price variance, he held, is not the natural result of the functioning of the law of supply and demand.

"However," Jardine continued, "I have assurance that the board is doing everything possible to remedy the conditions complained of, and I shall take no part in it.

"The board is a huge and highly important institution for the country, and it has a highly legitimate function for trading in grain futures and for hedging.

"It needs no outside agency to assist in handling its affairs or its problems. Of that I am convinced."

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, May 28.—Conditions in the stock market today were practically unchanged from those of the last two days. Vigorous forward movements took place in a number of stocks having the support of powerful professional pools, while the rank and file of industrial shares moved within narrow radius and sold off as soon as selling pressure assumed any considerable proportions. Most of the spectacular rallies in stock prices were either "personally conducted" by the professionals or the direct result of the efforts of the shorts to cover their commitments.

Industrial and motor stocks held the center of the stage. Maxwell, Mack Trucks and other active motor shares gave the impression of not having reached their "peaks" and were therefore whipped along at a fast rate in the early trading, after which they assumed a more leisurely pace.

An erroneous report that the governors of the stock exchange had ordered trading in Maxwell "B" discontinued caused considerable confusion and the "B" stock certificates jumped 9 points as a result, subsequently declining to their starting point. Then the regular "B" stock staged a sharp advance and gained about 4 points. Mack Trucks staged its almost daily performance of advancing to a new high record price for the year and General Motors maintained its high price for the movement in the face of heavy selling. Studebaker was not so fortunate and declined a point below its previous close. In view of the week-end holiday on Saturday and the absence of important traders from the financial district, a good portion of today's transactions were in the nature of evening up of speculative commitments. The shorts were busy covering in some of the industrial leaders, which accounted in some measure for their strength. American Can, General Electric, Woolworth and other high-priced stocks chalked up the highest price on the movement.

The bulk of the oil, copper, shipping and industrial stocks were either inactive or featureless. Sugar stocks occupied a more prominent position with the firming up of the refined sugar market. American Sugar advanced 2 points, to 65, and Cuban Cane preferred gained 2 points.

Call money was in good supply at 4 per cent, despite the fact that the banks were preparing for month-end settlements, as well as for some new treasury department financing.

Many of the motor stocks, industrials and specialties reached the highest prices of the day in the last hour. Oil stocks were irregular in this period and a number of the public utilities were subjected to profit-taking.

Stock sales today, 1,474,000 shares; bonds, $14,969,000.

FOOD INSPECTOR OF CITY RESIGNS

T. W. Long Appointed To Succeed F. N. Chisholm To Work In L. A.

Resignation of F. N. Chisholm as food inspector of the city of Glendale and the appointment of Thomas W. Long, 352 West Patterson avenue to the position, was announced today by City Manager Virgil B. Stone.

The department will pass into the hands of Mr. Long on June 1, when the resignation of the present inspector takes effect. Mr. Chisholm will leave the Glendale Health department to join the forces of the state department of agricuture as fruit inspector at Los Angeles. He has been with the local health department since January 1, 1925, organizing with Dr. G. Kaemmerling, health officer, the food inspection work in this city. Mr. Chisholm was formerly federal food and drug inspector with the United States Bureau of Chemistry.

Praises City System

Mr. Long will assume the duties of the pure food office with the backing of twenty years' experience gained in pure food work in the United States army. He operated under the subsistance branch of the service, organizing the first school for army bakers and cooks in France during the World War.

Mr. Long praised the system of scoring maintained by the Glendale health department in which each business concern handling foodstuffs is marked on the basis of 100 credits ,according to merits of each establishment as found by the food inspector on his monthly tours.

"Many local concerns are beginning to use these scores in their advertising. This practice is to be encouraged by my department," he said. "The scoring system is much to be desired as it creates a spirit of competition and friendly rivalry between the various concerns, tending toward greater efficiency and cleanliness in all instances."

Hudson And Essex Cars Are Proving Popular With Motoring Public

Increased activity on the automobile market is indicated in the report of record sales made by the Kelley Motor Co., 816 South Brand boulevard, local distributors of Hudson and Essex cars. One of the best sales records in the history of the concern has been achieved in recent weeks, according to Porter A. Kelley, manager.

"New Hudson and Essex models are rapidly popularizing themselves with the motoring public and demand for the cars is becoming greater every day," Mr. Kelley said.

Vending Machine Law Laid Over For Week

An ordinance recently introduced by Councilman S. C. Kinch, permitting operation of 5-cent vending machines in Glendale, was laid over for a week today, when it appeared on the calendar for its second reading. An application from M. C. Bell to install and operate five of the machines, received by the council today, was also filed until after the ordinance has been finally adopted. At the present time 1-cent machines only are permitted here.

City Attorney Ray L. Morrow today notified the council that the fire department, from its 1924-25 budget fund, can purchase from the public service department a tract of land at Glorietta street and Verdugo Canyon road on which to erect fire station No. 4. His opinion rescinded a former decision, and was based on a supreme court decision handed down this month. The market value of the land will be paid the public service department by a transfer of funds.

The city attorney was instructed to begin condemnation proceedings to take two and one-half feet from each side of Colorado street west from Central avenue, to make the street an eighty-foot width its entire length. Petition for widening the street was filed recently by property owners.

NEW floors for old!

To have beautiful floors in your home, you need not go to the expense of laying new hardwood floors. Instead, the soft wood or painted floor can be made to look like hardwood by the use of LUSTRELAC VARNISH STAIN.

Floors which have previously been varnished can be refinished by giving them a coat of Lustrelac Varnish Stain. It comes in a number of natural wood colors, is easy to apply, dries with a high gloss finish and is waterproof.

Ask for a color card which shows the various wood samples and tells how hardwood effects are secured. It also tells how Lustrelac Varnish Stain is used for refinishing furniture.
